The 1954 PINE TREE

GOALS GALORE in Fifty-four

We go to high school to learn; but the learning covers more than what is to be found on the pages of our textbooks. We reach as high as we can in everything we do and hitch our wagon to the best and brightest stars.

We take the hurdles in small jumps and hardly recognize the goals as we attain them. Putting our major emphasis on scholarship, we mix a generous portion of sports, clubs, and social activity. Each jump goes one step higher until, as seniors, we sum up all our efforts and are surprised and pleased at the valued star we've attained.

After graduation, we put high school goals behind us and aim for a still brighter star, job or college. Whichever one we choose, the years at B-CC will have given us the necessary beginnings and an appreciation of the value of establishing goals for ourselves.

Practice is fun for Dick Hill, Dave Allison, and Carl Green. It's spring!

We BEGAN

Sirens scream and the traffic roars past our classrooms. Students groan because their cars can not be parked on the school grounds. Inside there is the hum of busy classroom activity, chaotic movement in the halls when classes change, and an occasional clanging which sends us outside for a fire drill. We number 1600 students with seventy-nine faculty members. We have a good Administrative Council and an able Student Government Association. We pride ourselves on our achievements knowing that the high school years can never be repeated.

For a small fee, young artists do personal portraits at the Arts Fair.

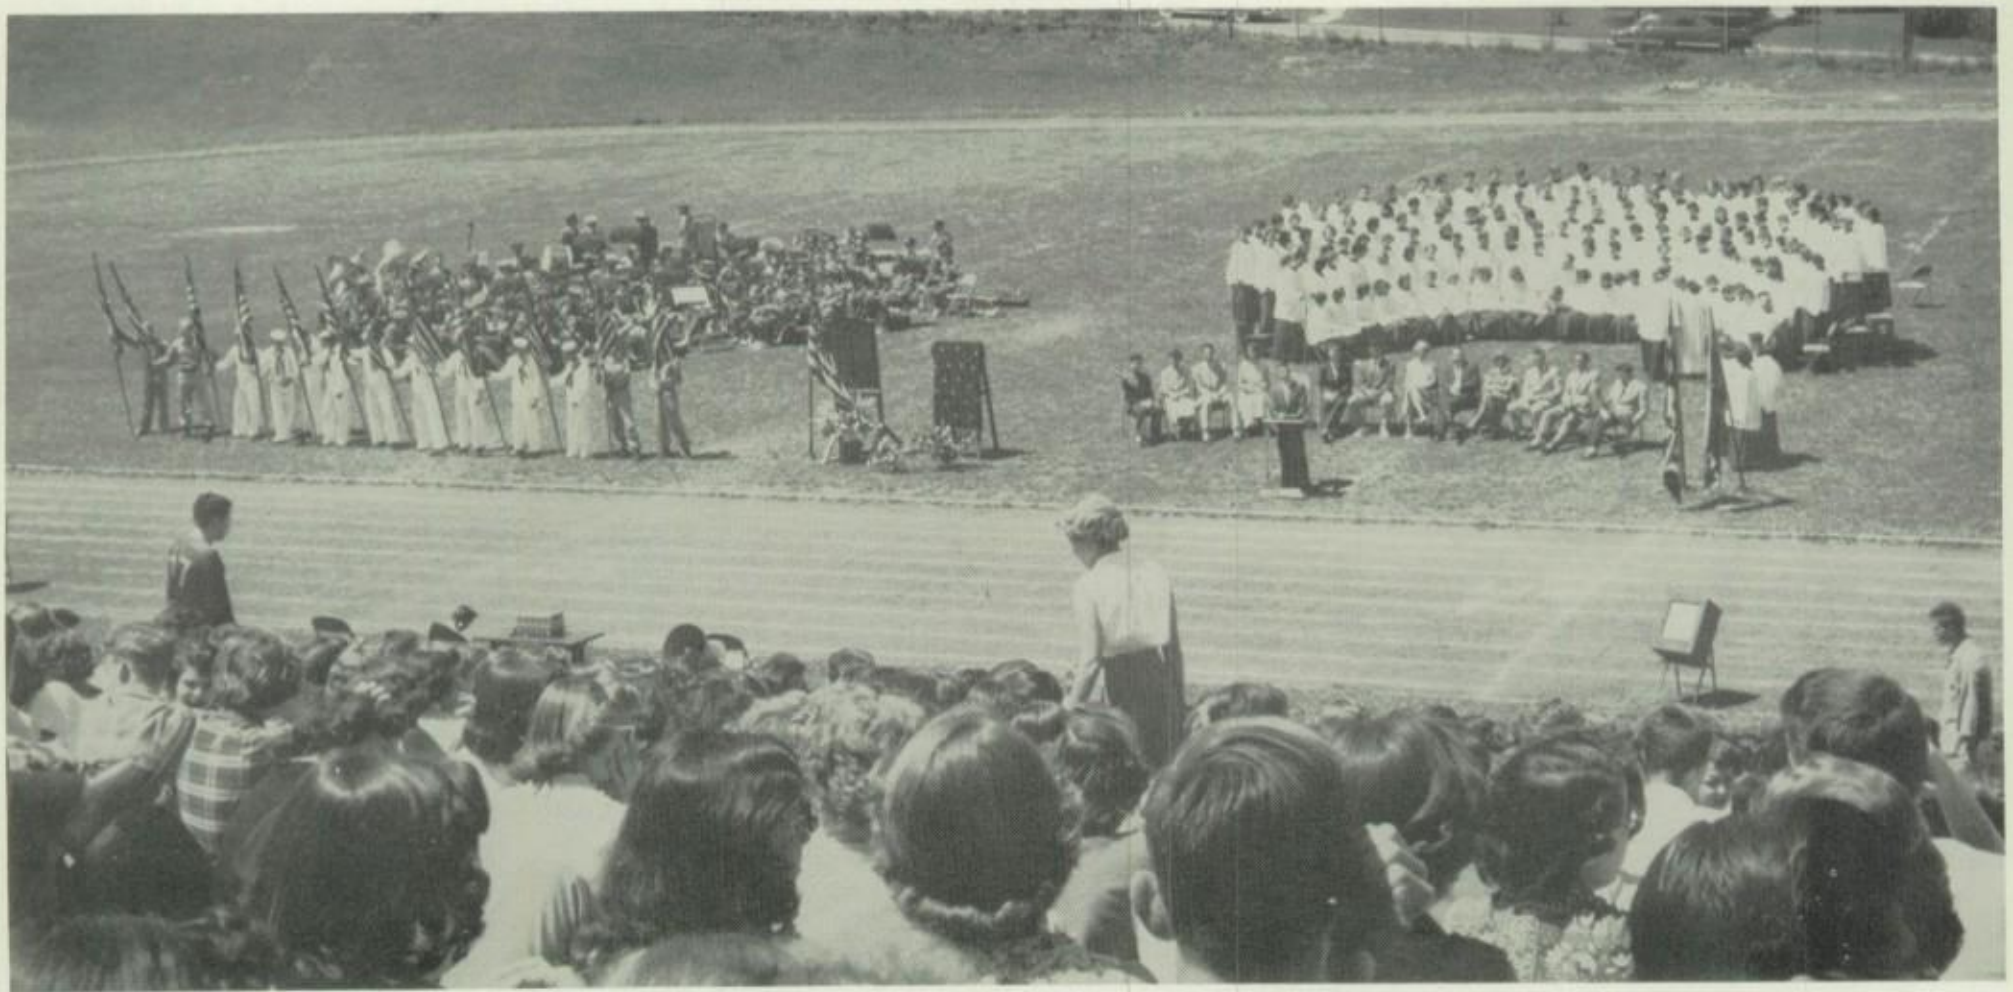

Mr. Pyles' proud moment is caused by the prize check won by the band.

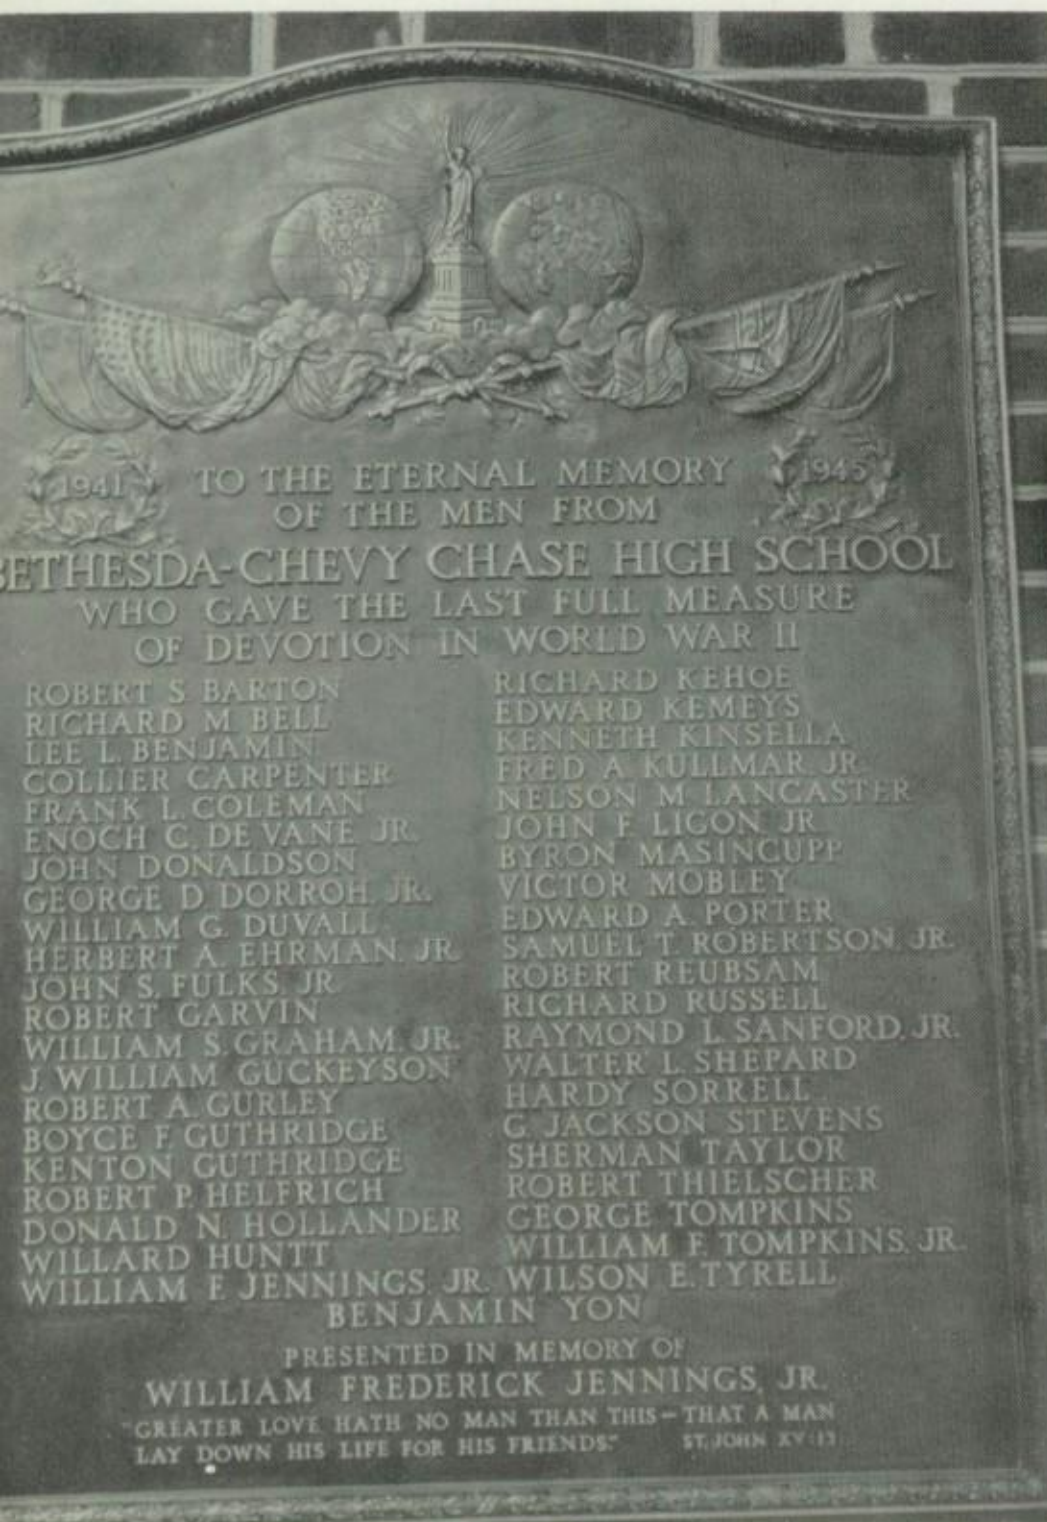

With high aims and goals galore, we lived this year from April until April, and that is the way we tell our story.

Last year's staff had sent their PINE TREE to press and ours was in the frantic stage. We searched for a theme, sought for good staff candidates, and hoped for a miraculous yearbook in fifty-four.

No one else could be concerned about something so far in the future. It was spring! For our track team, spring was off to a running start. So were a lot of romances. Art classes took field trips and prepared the Arts Fair. The Choir gave its Spring Concert and the Band won a hundred dollars at the Lions' Club Band Contest for area schools.

Bright sun shines on the Memorial Day Assembly.

The familiar Memorial Plaque has been permanently placed on the front of the Administration Building.

At the Memorial Day Service, the music of the band and choir swelled patriotically within us as the names were read of those "who gave their last full measure of devotion in World War II". This was the last time that the bronze memorial plaque would appear on a temporary stand, for it was later placed on the front of the Administration Building.

Participants have this view of the student body.

Members of the queen's court, Carole Bowie, Nancy Ash, and Sandy Shoemaker, with proud escorts, pose at the Junior-Senior Prom.

To Appreciate our ROLE

The Junior-Senior Prom gave us a queen and another superb dance—our high school fun seemed always to center around a dance. Then the gay hustle and bustle began to settle as we plunged into final examinations. For us there would be a next time; for the seniors, it was the last time.

Gloom seemed to hang around each senior classroom door, for high school days were over. Commencement activities would start a new life for each graduating student. Next year we knew that we'd be in their position. We helped by acting as waiters at the senior banquet, serving as ushers at Baccalaureate, and helping as quietly and efficiently as possible. The seniors held their Prom at the Shoreham, held the graduation exercises in the Boys Gym, and slowly realized that twelve years were over. The fun and effort of those years could never be regained. That "they were graduated from Bethesda-Chevy Chase" was now true of them.

September's seniors would include our names.

Fred Crafts displays an unsuspected talent as he helps Alice Hart prepare for the thirsty dancers.

Students carefully scan bulletin boards on the first day as they search for the new homeroom number and location.

"Hi!" "Hello." "Wait'll I tell you . . ." was heard everywhere in the conversation of the juniors and seniors during the first days of school. Sophomores gave themselves away by asking questions, such as "Where am I?" and "How do I get to room 032?" We, as seniors, vowed to make the most of this year since we realized this was the beginning of the end of high school. A few short days and our faithful vows had lost their original meaning. This was the year of the sarcastic retort, and so "our minds began to concentrate on subjects of importance and academic merit." Actually, our thoughts turned to dances and parties and vacation time.

Kevin Kadow and his friend peer anxiously into their new homeroom.

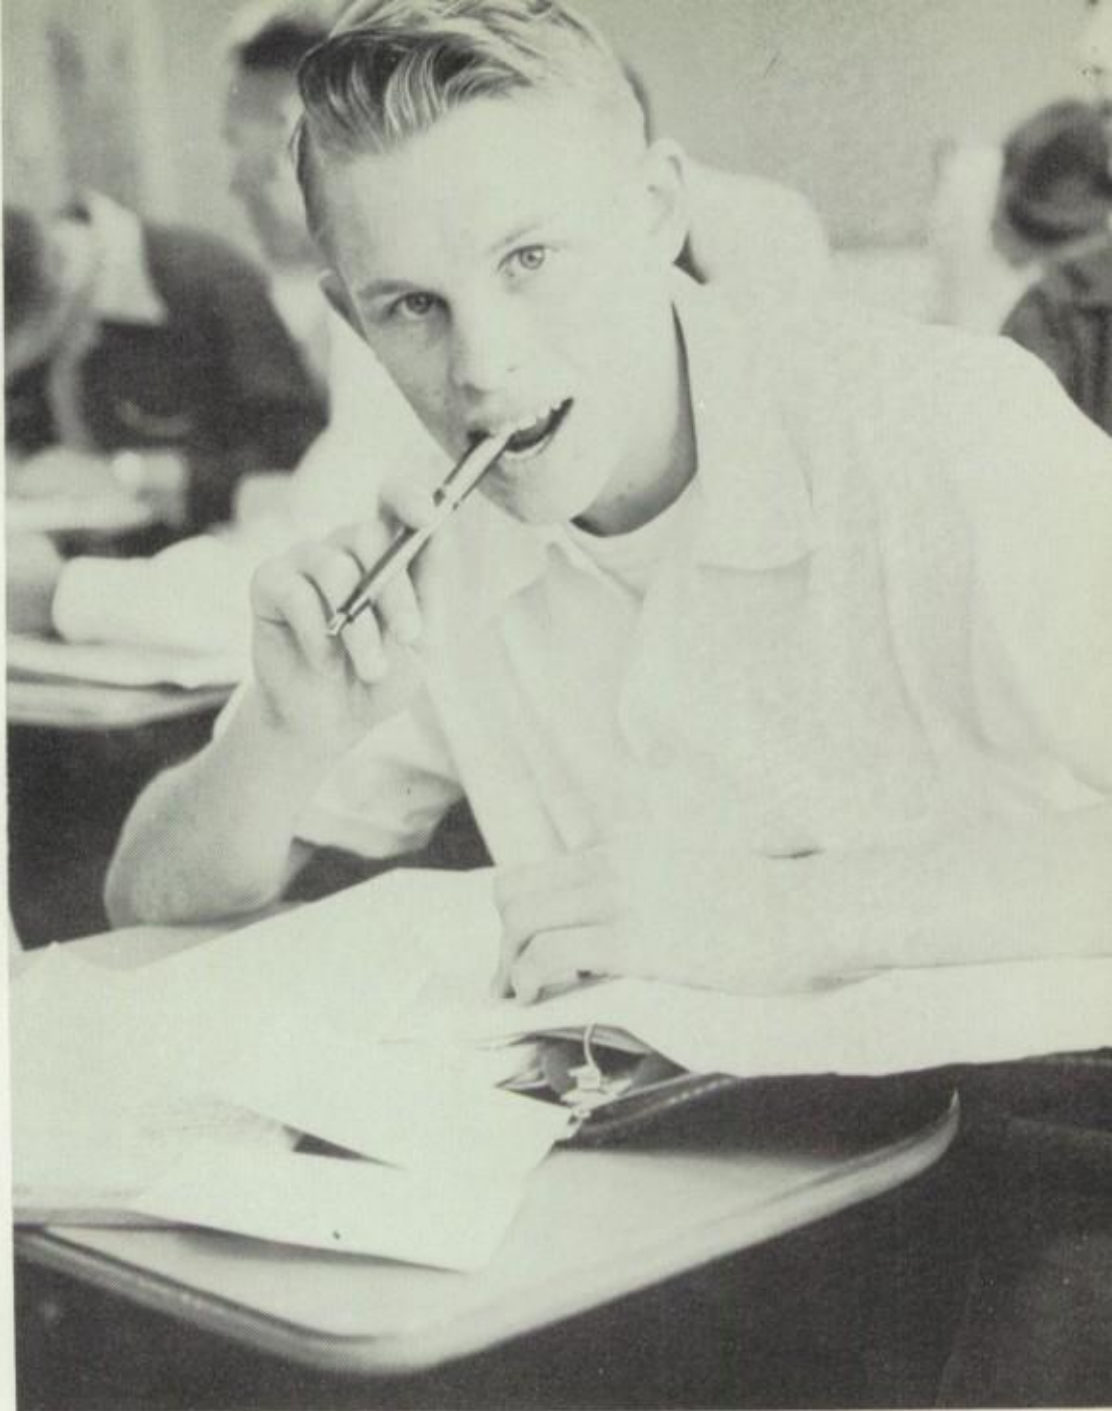

From the breezeway, students on the first day of school looked like this.

The world outside our high school world didn't completely escape our attention. The end of the Korean War and the resulting exchange of prisoners were watched as closely as were the actions of Stalin's successor, Malenkov. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles spent almost as much time outside the country as he did in Washington. The conferences were many; the locations, varied. We realized that future generations would find McCarthyism defined in their dictionaries, that the death of Senator Taft was a loss to the country, that Governor Warren of California became Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and that people were arguing about the value of the Bricker Amendment and its attempt to limit Presidential powers in treaty making.

Queen Elizabeth II toured the world, visiting the British Commonwealth of Nations, while Naguib's role in Egypt was an up and down one. But we didn't have to go abroad for excitement. Three-dimensional movies were Hollywood's answer to TV, with new, wider screens being installed in an increasing number of theaters. Local news seized our attention with the shooting in the House of Representatives. Puerto Rican Nationalists wounded five Congressmen on the floor of the House during a session. The floods at Peace Cross were, at last, to be prevented; in B-town one of the biggest battles was over zoning.

Yes, we knew the world was there, but . . .

Again, and again, and again! Roster cards, in threes, follow us through high school. Lewis Beman is the harried student.

Good BEGINNINGS First

The swearing-in ceremony for the new Student Government representatives was held in an assembly.

School became a studio as students took the role of movie stars and complained, proudly and loudly, of working under the bright lights. The movie was made for the NEA and was completed in other schools.

Senior Tom Carmichael, President of Maryland Student Government Association, busily organized the state convention which met at our school. Finding enough rooms for the guests was the major problem of the convention, but the various other committees worked long and hard, too.

Garbage cans were used everywhere but in the cafeteria. There they used bags. And the cafeteria! For a while the Kensington Junior High School held some of its classes in the old C Building. They added to the zest of going to the cafeteria, for they ate lunch there too. They provided more competition for a place in that long, long line.

Donna Cochrane is coached by Mr. Rusinow as the rest of his "class" looks on during one of its frequent sittings for the movie.

A CONVENTION and a MOVIE Visit

Visiting students receive help from Stecher, Outerson, and Davidson at the registration desk for the S.G.A. Convention.

Faculty lounge at lunch time is a room seldom seen by students.

A P.T.A. hostess serves punch to Miss Kauffman at the tea honoring the new faculty.

To the sophomores, B-CC was still a place of surprises. Some stairways were for the UP traffic; some were for the DOWN traffic.

And C Building! Ever since the day we arrived, we've heard that C was only a temporary building. Each June it was discarded; each September it was back in use.

The PTA held a tea in honor of the teachers new to the school. It was the PTA and the Bethesda Chamber of Commerce that furnished the lounge for the teachers. We're told that teachers relax there, chat sociably, and forget for a few moments the problems of the daily routine.

Community complaints about our cafeteria papers blowing into neighboring yards resulted in our replacing the old trash cans with trash bags like the ones the students are examining.

Climbing steps and more steps between every class, we wish for elevators. The stairs are rarely as empty as this picture shows.

School spirit was high before the Blair football game. The Blazer dummy was forced to watch the optimistic students.

Nothing, however, held our attention for very long, for the football game with Montgomery Blair drew near. School spirit was at an all time high. We had congo lines, a snake dance through the streets of B-town, and a bonfire. It began early Friday morning when someone hung a dummy of a Blair football player in a tree in the quadrangle. The Bunny Hop was the rage of the day, and the cheerleaders led the way. In the evening our Bonfire Rally built spirit even higher.

The game was a heart-breaker; we came so close to scoring. The scoreless tie, however, didn't lessen the splendor of the team, and there was much fun and celebration at the Pigskin Prom.

Our last glimpse of the paper and cloth dummy came when it was thrown into the bonfire to climax the spirit raising activity.

The long-awaited bonfire was our spirit booster before the big game.

Before the Blair game, our band put on a show for the entertainment of the spectators.

After the football season ended, there was no time for lament. The vacations were upon us. From Thanksgiving until Christmas provided a short bit of schooling, but the fun we packed into that time was sensational. So were the decorations by the Art classes and the Choir Concert in the Washington Cathedral.

The Christmas season is also a busy time for the Student Government Association. Their Social Committee plans the activities for the returning alumni. The traditional basketball game pitting the alumni against our current champions is followed by an informal dance. The semi-formal dance of the season is the Mistletoe Ball which this year featured an old-fashioned Christmas.

Friendly COMPETITION Adds ZEST

In spite of the tie score, the team was in high spirits at the Pigskin Prom, which honored them and the season's record.

Outstanding students are chosen for National Honor Society in impressive inductions held twice each year.

A National Honor Society Induction was tucked into the busy schedule; and then, the pine seedlings arrived. Shop classes plotted their plantings around the athletic field; they helped the Biology Club plant them. Watering the seedlings was another task that the club accomplished; to the members it seemed as though it didn't rain for three months!

Mr. Muth watches the progress of the work as Mr. Slate studies plans for the placement of the seedlings which will surround the athletic field.

First and second place winners, in that order, in the Voice of Democracy contest are Sally Barnes and Norman Davis.

Helen Dove looks over nursing material as Mrs. Martin explains some medicines used at Garfield School of Nursing.

Always Look AHEAD

Choosing a college, sending in our application, and waiting for news of acceptance became the pattern of the days. The Guidance Office helped by maintaining a Reading Room with catalogs from every college in the country. Later a College Night was staged. A questionnaire distributed to students determined which colleges should be invited. Three periods were provided for visiting with the college representatives, and our parents attended with us.

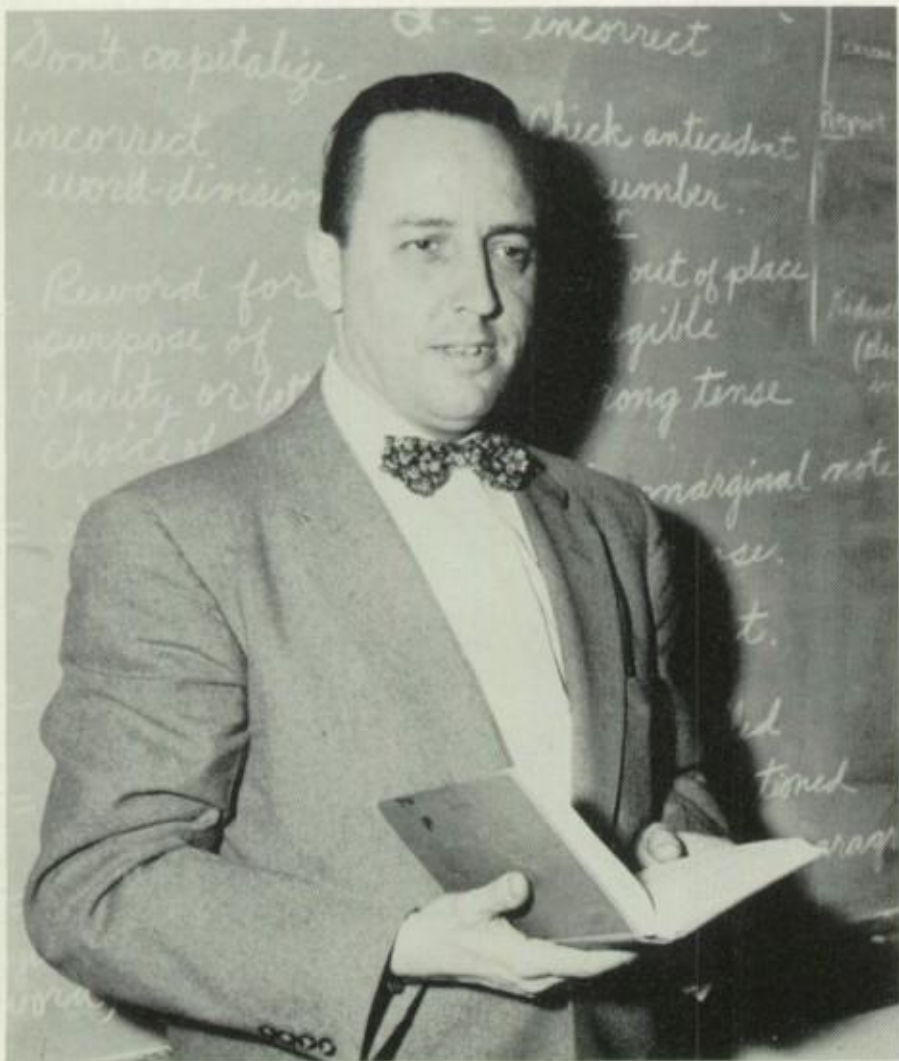

We shopped among the after-high-school agencies represented. "How much does it cost?" "What kind of record must I have made in high school to be considered by your college?" These and many other questions were answered for us.

Barbara Smith, Yvonne Rogers, and David Cherry consult a scholarship folder before attending a conference on College Night.

The waiting room in the guidance office is also the scene of serious reading of information on jobs and colleges.

Mr. James Downton joined our English Department at the beginning of the second semester.

Mrs. Patricia Perusse joined the Physical Education Department in February.

NEW Faces and a NEW Semester

With a beginning of a new semester, we find a new interest in the library, hoping that it will be reflected on the next report card.

Even wintry snows broke a record this year, for school was called off on three occasions. This wasn't one of them.

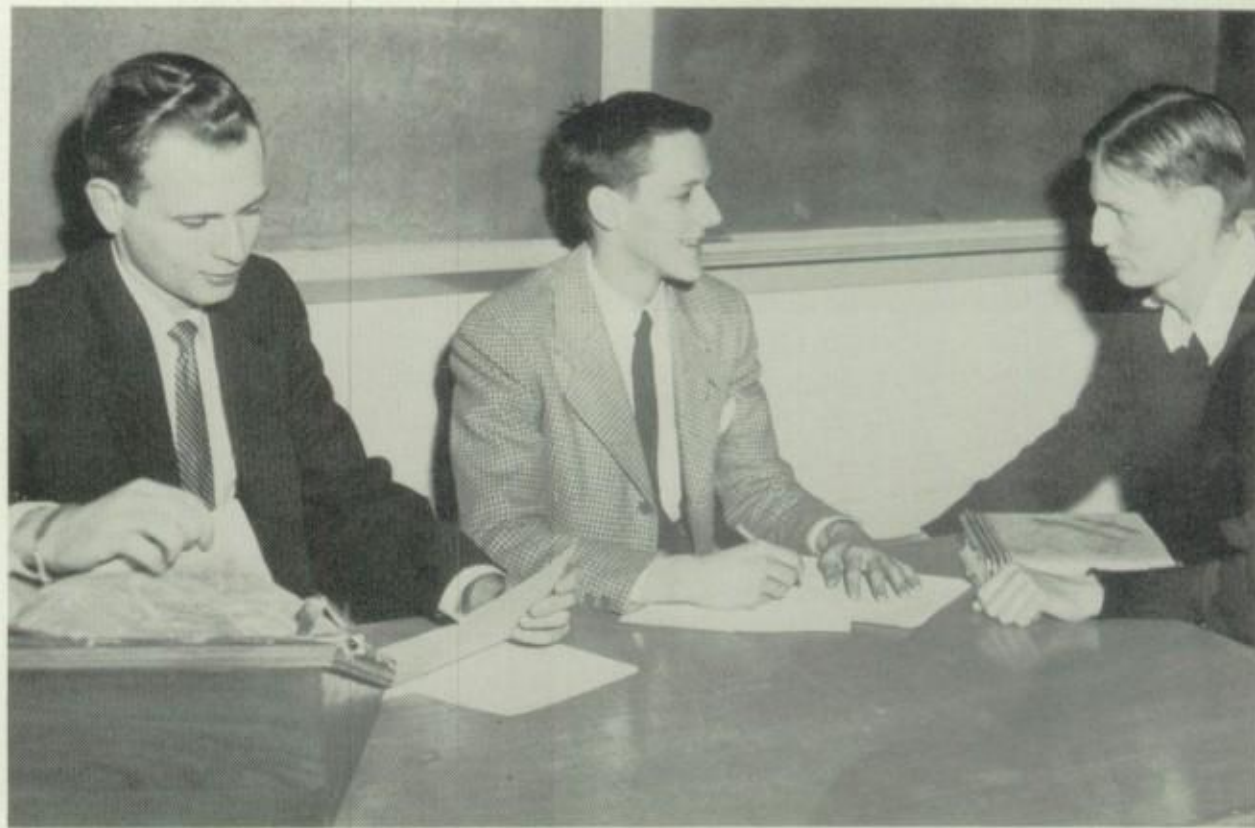

Mrs. Bouvet holds the tray presented to her by the faculty in appreciation of twenty-five years as manager of the school cafeteria.

We gave winter our whole-hearted attention. It was the worst in five years. Cars skidded everywhere. Boys were suspended for snowballing. This year someone tried to alibi that he'd just thrown chunks of White Rain, but the Administration didn't recognize that excuse and enforced the "no snowballing" rule. School busses couldn't run and school was called off on three occasions. We enjoyed the unexpected holidays. But all good things come to an end. We learned another unscheduled holiday would mean extra days in June. Then, nothing kept us from school, not even snow two inches deep, or snow on March 11!

Judy Berkenbilt sits patiently while an expert hand applies grease paint for her "face".

Seniors substitute for teachers on Senior Days. Charles Duvall, who planned the program and acted as Mr. Zimmerman, discusses a problem Richard Phillips has presented. "Teacher" David Blackwelder checks a pronunciation before facing a class.

"Once is enough! I'll never teach." "Do you realize how much a teacher can see? I gave a test and those kids didn't make a move that I didn't see." "I've made up my mind. I'm going to become a mathematics teacher." These represent the varied reactions to one of the most ambitious programs that the seniors undertake during the year.

Organized for two days, this program provides an opportunity for seniors to act as teachers and present the lessons. The chief result is that we realize the many phases of running a senior high school for 1600 students. It's a responsibility we're glad to share, but we're equally glad that ours is not the whole responsibility.

Mr. Bender makes suggestions to Lewis Beman for the final touches on his tray.

School store personnel serve before and after school and during both lunch periods.

Stature ATTAINED

Thermostats grabbed their share of our attention when they began a haphazard method of operating in the Science Building. Hot house plants would have been happier than we or the County Engineers were. The final word was that they couldn't be fixed; they were to be replaced during the summer. The Science Building was not our favorite spot.

Dramatic Club, Dramatics Class, and the Thespians presented The Man Who Came to Dinner, planned a production of Twelfth Night, and rehearsed She Stoops to Conquer for an assembly. Their late rehearsals day after day rivalled the practices of the basketball team. The practices brought us a championship team and took us into the Maryland State Championship play-offs where we beat Wicomico but lost to Alleghany High. It was Alleghany's eleventh championship in twelve appearances in the finals.

Keeping an eagle eye on the Bi-County Champions—our own Barons—didn't deter us from our lesser basketball activities. The Honor Society challenged the Faculty to a basketball game and won by one point.

Barbara Hepfinger was forced to withdraw from school in October because of polio. After her recovery she was able to receive home study and thus graduate with her class.

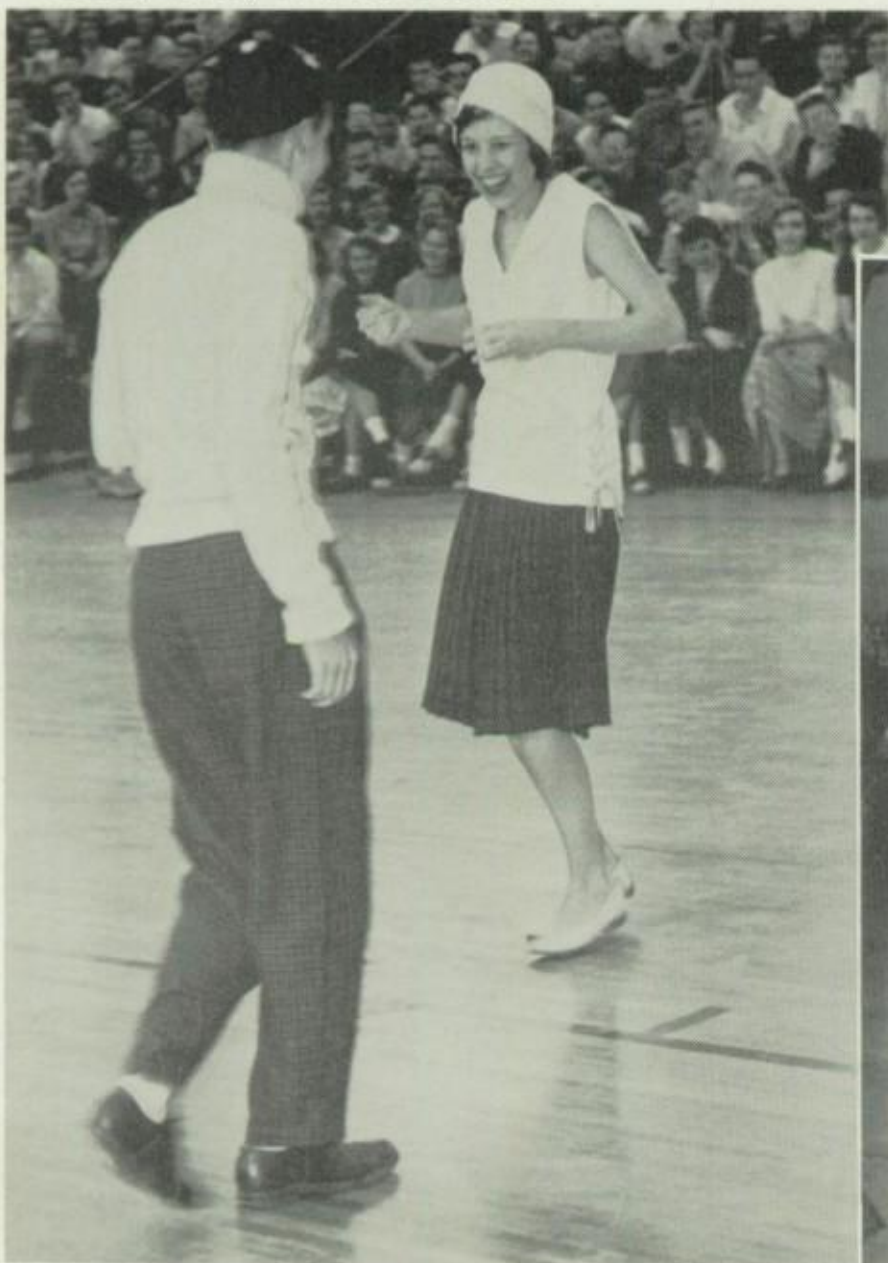

QUILL AND SCROLL: First Row: Bowie, Honsinger, Williams, Brown, Jenkins. Second Row: Snyder, Asay, Schoonover, Orndorff, Snell. Third Row: Schmitter, Jackson, Beman, Hauk, Herrell, Terres, Maury.

We turned our thoughts to the Student Government Welfare Drive. The In-school Publicity Committee roused our curiosity by advertising a 4 in 1. Staged over a four day period, the drive resulted in a contribution of approximately one hundred dollars to each of the following: Crusade for Freedom, Red Cross, CARE, and Tuberculosis.

The Journalism Class made its annual jaunt to New York for the Convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Members of the publications' staffs sent delegates to the Maryland State Press Convention in Annapolis.

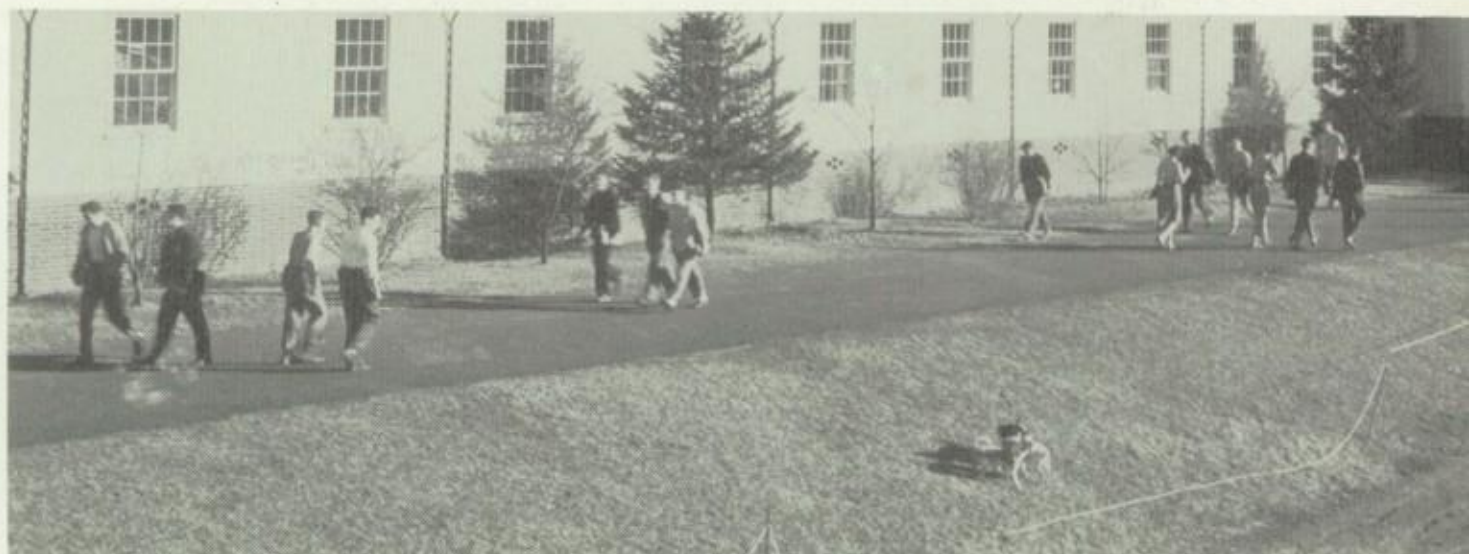

The Y Clubs sponsored the Club Baron. This dance featured a floor show, included our parents as participants, and helped finance the publication of the Blue and Gold Handbook for students new to the school. Then the SGA presented the Extravaganza on two consecutive evenings.

Gloria Gearhart and Bob Hilles' version of the Charleston done for the Dance Festival Assembly was so popular that the number was repeated for the Club Baron Floor Show.

The Square Dance has become so firmly established it's hard to realize that it was revived only a few years back.

March came in like a lion! The outside of the Arts Building was less crowded but really windy.

NO MORE for us at B-CC

Then we gasped in horror. The end of our senior days was upon us. The juniors were registering for next year's classes. Candidates for spring sports were reporting to practice. The final copy of the yearbook had gone to the printers. Our chatter turned to June Week and to the college where we'd be in September. It was spring. It was our senior year. It was frightening. It was wonderful. It was over.

Juniors Deedee Burnside, Martha Bunker, and Theresa Burns compare their registrations for their senior year. Credit counts must be accurate!

ADMINISTRATIVE COUNCIL in executive session.

Our Guidance Department provides the answers to many questions, particularly on scheduling, jobs, and colleges. Each class has its own adviser who is swamped with requests for blanks of every description. The senior counsellor plans College Night or Career Night.

We have two vice-principals; one is in charge of supervision; one handles the administrative part of school life.

These five and the principal make up the Administrative Council which determines the policies and rules that govern the life at Bethesda-Chevy Chase.

ENGLISH

Only eight parts of speech! At least that's what they said in grammar school. But English has grown with us. Now it goes from Shakespeare to simple sentences, from an oral composition to a thesis, and it all adds up to D's and E's. Or at least it seems that way in the midst of a test. Writing a grammatically correct paragraph is problem enough, but we're supposed to say something too.

SOCIAL STUDIES

"Vice President Nixon and his wife returned from their trip around the world yesterday."

"Yes, I'm using that as my report for Current Events Time in history."

Being next door to the nation's capitol helps keep us alive to what goes on in the world. Of course, we're sometimes dragged into the past and then our experience includes dull facts, snatched shut eye, map tests, and long book reports. We discover dates that we must know, but we "needn't memorize." We indulge in arguments knowing there is no definite answer.

Today's current events will be in tomorrow's history books. How will the historian see what we are experiencing? And, who knows, but some of us may be in tomorrow's history books? What could an historian be able to record of our days in high school?

Teachers have homework too! Mr. Taylor prepares lessons for his U. S. history classes.

Peggy McMorrow, Mr. Killen, and Elaine Typer watch Teddie Downey locate the area about which she will report in Far Eastern Affairs.

SCIENCE

Dissecting worms, making ammonia, and studying Newton's laws all come under the same title, Science. Within this field we study everything from "soup to nuts."

Most of us experience such trials as dissecting worms, cleaning up broken test tubes, and untangling snarled pulley strings. A few who really enjoy this subject continue in advanced science, where they delve into analytical chemistry and atomic physics.

Whether we take only the basic sciences or go on with advanced work, we realize how much these courses help us to understand the world in which we live.

THERE IS NO EASIER LANGUAGE. Accept the fact. Amo te?, Parlez-vous?, or Muchas gracias? They are phrases everyone knows, but vocabulary provides homework every night. Call your friend for help; ask the teacher for extra drill; but sooner or later, face it. You must work day by day for any satisfaction when the assignment calls for an oral report in the foreign language. Join a club or elect a third year. A good beginning here is worth every minute it requires.

If you are lucky, you can reason the problem out. If not, you memorize and hope the exam isn't too hard.

Those who plan to continue in engineering, public accounting, and banking need the math courses that are offered. The rest of us take what is required and hope we can evade further hours of adding and subtracting in college. "Today I wrote a check for $75,000."

"Then you forgot to sign it!"

"Oh, no, we are learning to use the check writing machine and the adding machine. It's fun. I'm going to try to get a job in an office this summer."

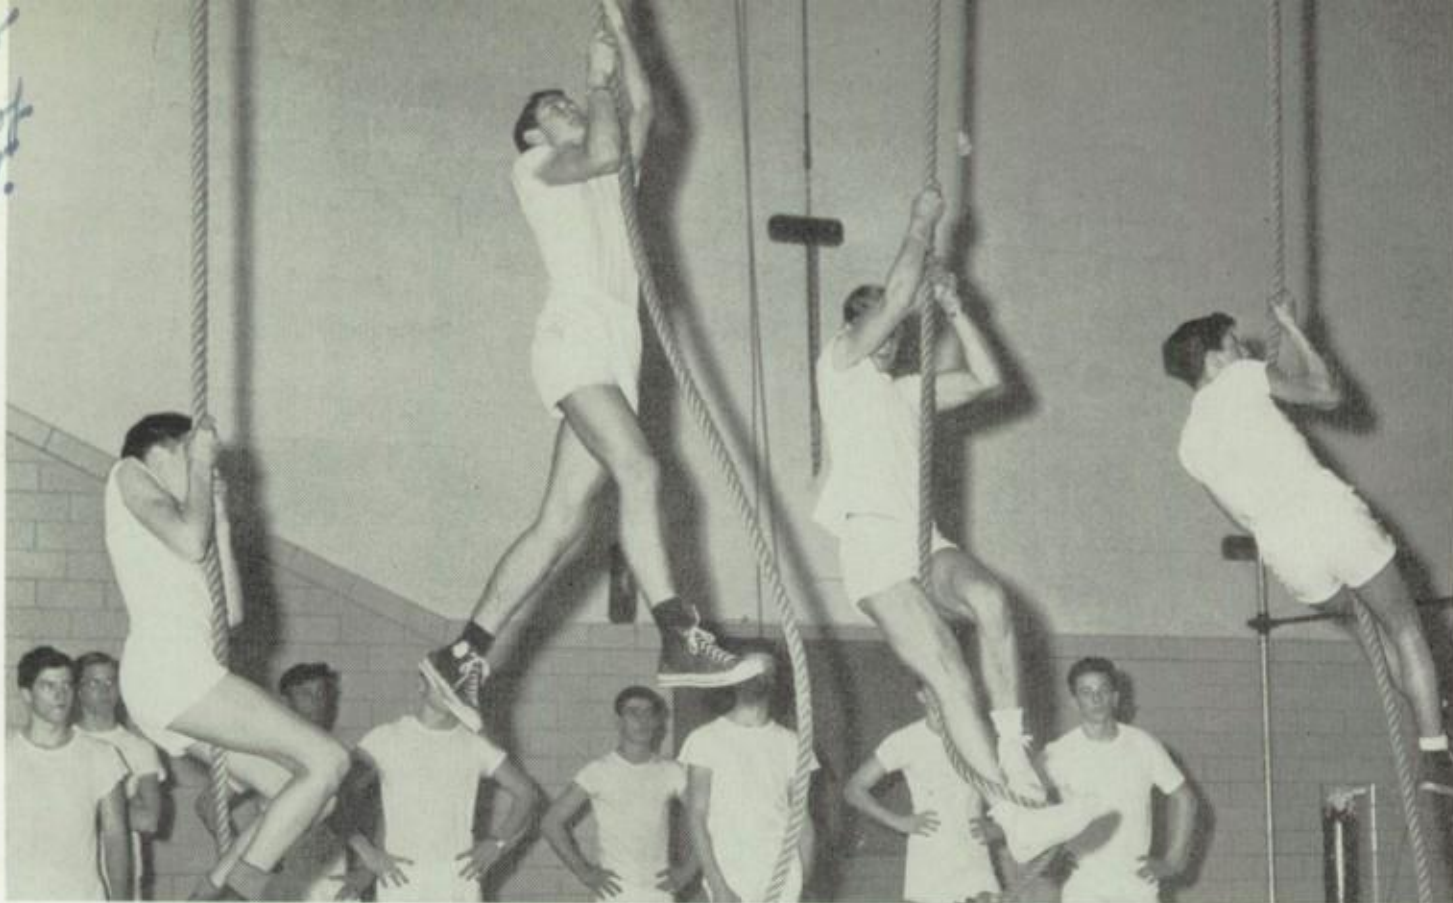

Our experience in the classroom makes us ambitious to try our new skills. Commercial students are thrilled when they begin to read their own shorthand notes, and a perfect copy in typing is reason for much celebration.

Other students elect typing for possibly better grades on term papers and for their own personal satisfaction. We choose the commercial course for training in the business world.

School busses arrived and departed so quietly and efficiently that it wasn't until the worst blizzard in five years hit us that we realized fifty per cent of us used this means of transportation.

Hot lunches are favored in the winter while ice cream is tops in the summer. The lunch line gives us a chance for a social get-together.

Would you like the job of providing lunch for 1600 like you? Or keeping the building warm? It's only in our quieter moments that we can appreciate what is done for us and in spite of us.

Head Custodian

Our janitors keep the halls, classrooms, and school grounds clean and orderly. Two of them are sweeping the cafeteria after lunch period.

Transcripts reach colleges, reference books are easily found, school busses run on schedule, lunches are ready on time, and the halls are clean. We accept the smooth operation of this five million dollar school plant so calmly that we almost forget the ones who keep the wheels turning and us in comfort.

One by one, and later dozens by dozens, we entered the doorway to high school; it would be a new experience.

SOPHOMORES

Our first impression of B-CC was the miles of endless corridors, the colorful murals, the people with more people, and the chaos of the cafeteria.

Then "Bon Jour" cascaded about us. It was the welcoming dance of the year. Encouraged by it and with the P.A. system giving us a big brotherly nudge, we realized that winning friends and making contributions were important parts of high school life. We soon chose what we considered to be the brightest star, the star with a social glow. As we bought budgets and attended dances, we settled into the pattern.

Pep rallies in assembly literally raise the roof.

PEP Merchants

Fastest way to feel the spirit of Bethesda is to attend a pep rally. "Where's your school spirit?" is the call for a louder yell than the one before, and imperceptibly the spell is cast. Each sophomore and each new student blends his voice with the old timers in "We've got a team and nobody's prouder." It soon becomes a deep pride in the teams, the school, and our own role here.

Jamboree, first football activity of the season, gives each county team a chance to compete. The Barons watch from the sidelines before their meeting with Gaithersburg.

Tense moments before the game see Bob Benson, Coach Judkins, Norman Sheetz, and Coach Sadusky reviewing the plan of attack.

FOOTBALL

The Toss! Blair's Rivers and Street watched that referee as closely as our co-captains Bob Benson and Norman Sheetz. The kick off was ours!

Heroes on the Gridiron

Thirty-one Bethesda Barons fought for a record of three wins, three losses, and a tie with their arch rival, Montgomery Blair High School. Dick Hill, wing back, was named Athlete of the Week by the Washington Daily News. Later, tackle George Burns was named All-High Player of the Week by the Washington Post.

In the Jamboree, a good preview of county football strength, Bethesda trounced Gaithersburg, 13-0.

Bethesda lost its season opener and first Bi-County League game to Bladensburg, 19-0. The Barons were unable to muster a serious threat. Norman Harris scored two of the Mustang tallies, one on an eight-yard run and the other on a twenty-five yard pass.

Western, revengeful of last year's upset by Bethesda, evened the score by gaining a 26-6 victory over the Barons. The Western line ripped open the Baron's defense to monopolize offensive play throughout the game. Bob Speich grabbed a Talentino pass for the only Bethesda score, later in the second period.

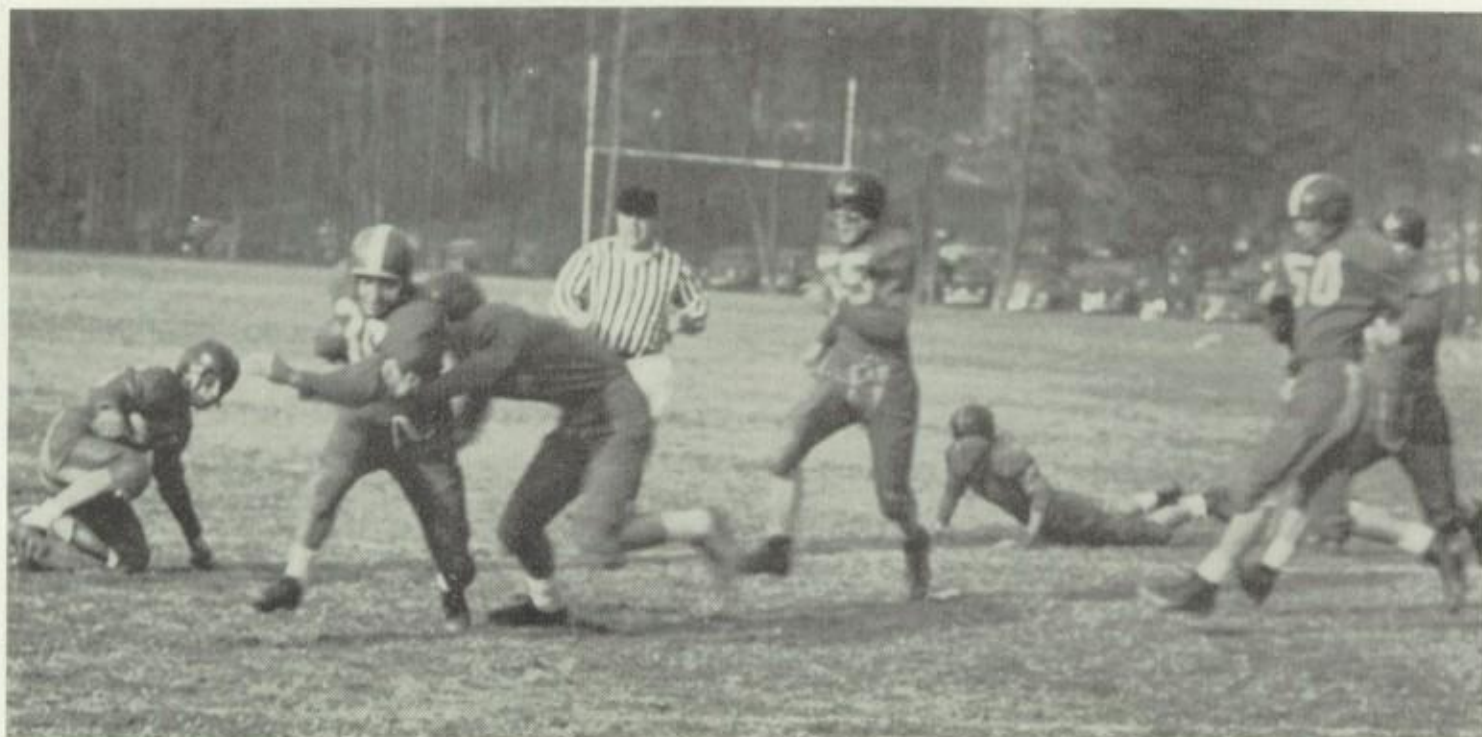

Bethesda upset Northwestern, 13-9, for the first Baron victory of the season. Northwestern scored a safety and a touchdown to lead 9-6.

THE RECORD

B.C.C.		Opponents
0	Bladensburg	19

0	Blair	0

Going down is Blair's Eshelman under Larry Sault's attack in the Blair game.

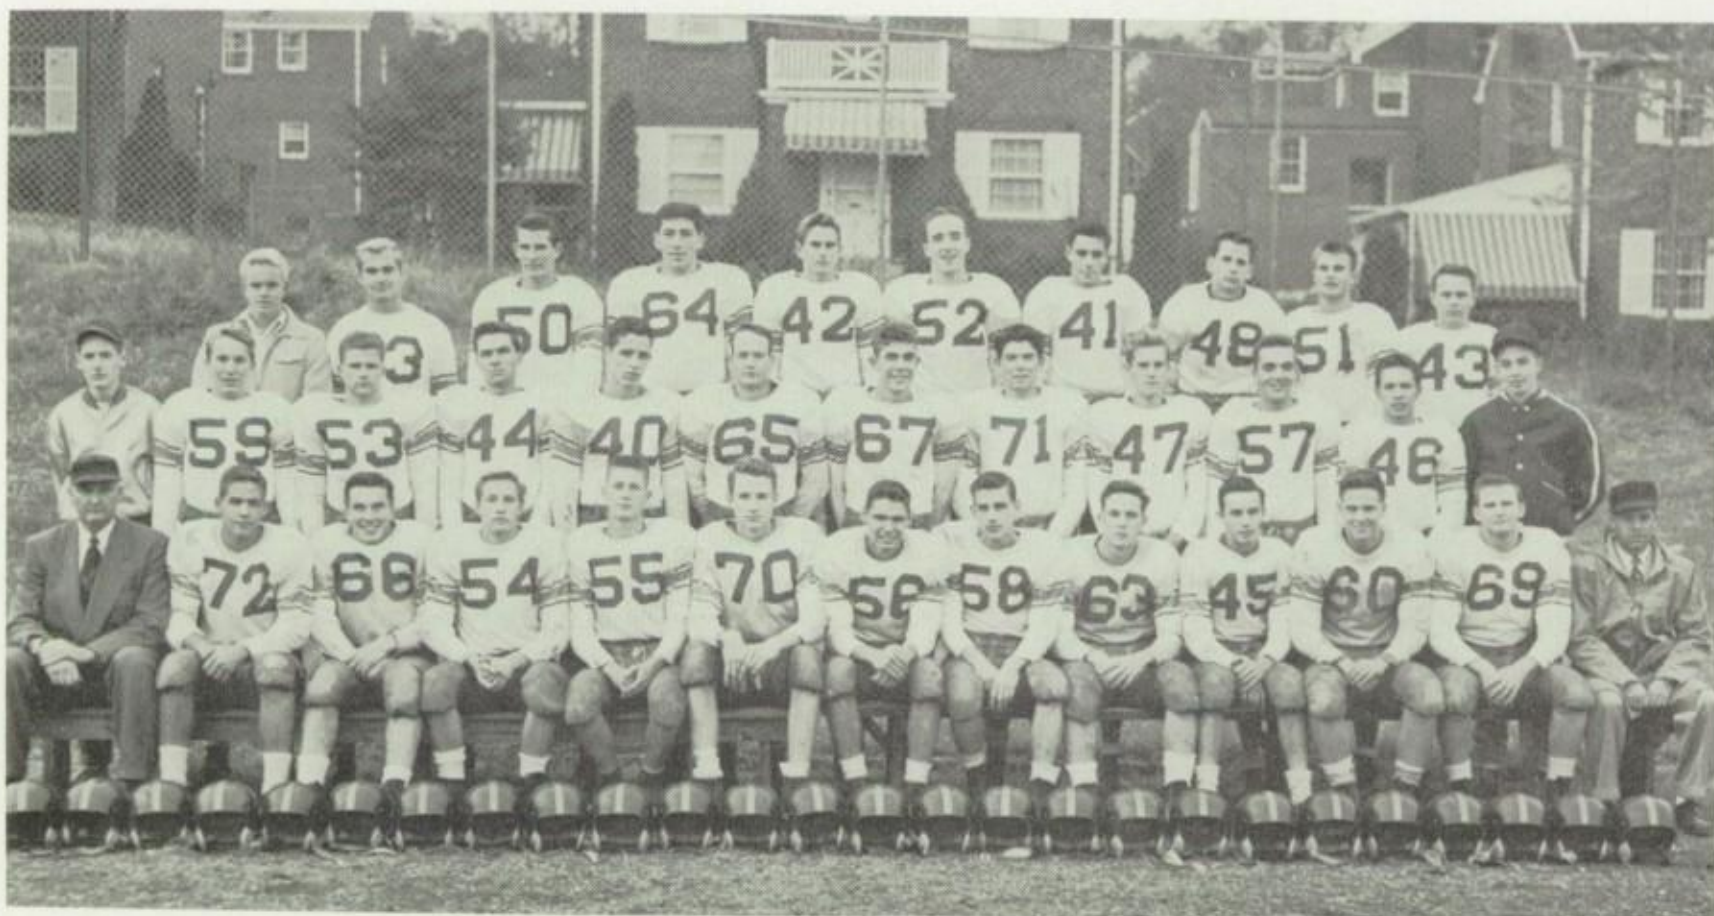

In the last period, the Barons scored again on a pass from Jim Talentino to Larry Sault to take a 13-9 lead, a lead they never relinquished.

Suitland was undefeated until the Barons trounced them, 13-0. Dick Hill grabbed a pitchout from John Faber, cut around left end, and ambled eighty-six yards to score. Midway through the last quarter, Faber clinched the upset by intercepting a Suitland toss and romping sixty-two yards down the sidelines.

The Barons beat Frederick, 26-7. Early in the second quarter, Dick Hill grabbed a punt and ran forty-nine yards to the Frederick six-yard line. John Faber plunged over for the first Baron score and John Cornelius converted for the extra point. David Moore scored and Cornelius again kicked the extra point. During the fourth quarter, Dick Hill intercepted a pass and ran for the touchdown.

St. Albans overcame an 18-6 half-time deficit to upset the heavily favored Barons, 21-18. The winning touchdown came in the last two minutes of play when Dick Hill fumbled on the ten and the Saints recovered. They plunged over from there to win.

Sportsmen

Montgomery Blair's Blazers battled the Barons to a 0-0 tie in the eighth annual renewal of the traditional football rivalry.

The Blazers, seeking to avenge last year's 19-0 trouncing, were outplayed on the ground and in the air but not in spirit. Bethesda threatened four times during the contest but fumbles and pass interceptions at crucial points in the game stalled the drives. Blair threatened twice.

Early in the second quarter Blair drove to the B-CC 1 yard line where great play by the center of the line stalled the threat.

Bethesda took over the ball on downs, but fumbled minutes later to give the Blazers another try. Again the defense held and Bethesda recovered possession on their 6. From there they drove to the Blair 12, where with twenty seconds to go in the half they took to the air. Three passes fell incomplete and the fourth was intercepted as the quarter ended.

Holding tightly to the ball Cornelius gains some precious yardage in the Blair game.

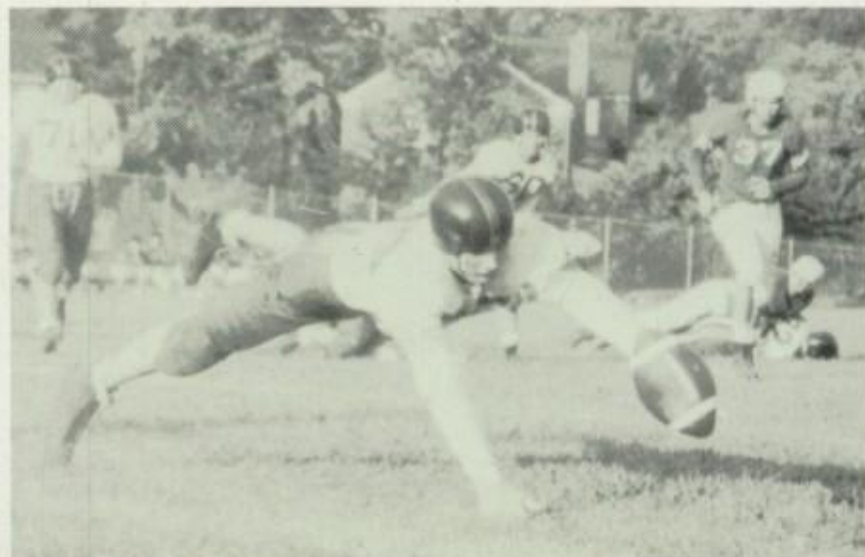

Half-times were never dull with the Band and Pom-Poms on parade.

Oh, no . . . the bench can only watch and hope. Jerry Nettleton, Bob Roman, Hap Carr, Jim Shroat, and John Hesford were the watchers.

on the Loose

Tall John Cornelius fell on this one in the Suitland game.

Showing the way . . . as early as the Jamboree . . . was Dick Hill who was faster than the Gaithersburg man behind him.

An inspired Bethesda team took the field in the second half to receive the kickoff. On a sustained drive highlighted by two Sault to Cornelius passes, the Barons penetrated deep into Blazer territory. But again another timely interception stopped them.

Throughout the remainder of the game, Bethesda went deep into Blair territory on several occasions, but good defensive play prevented them from scoring.

In the post-season polls, the Barons were rated the eighteenth team in the area, just above the Blair Blazers.

GIRLS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION—First Row: Thomas, Lublin, Nigh. Second Row: Stone, Holland, Rosenberger, McCormack, Creech.

Intramural Program for Girls

Every girl in school who wishes to participate in the sports program of the Girls Athletic Association is automatically granted membership. Since there are no varsity sports for girls, this program of intramurals and Sports Days provides opportunities for those who wish to be majors in Physical Education in college or who wish to be summer camp leaders. Learning to organize and conduct intramurals and to officiate in various sports is secured through this participation.

The G.A.A. promotes an interest in athletics through this after-school program. One hour each day is spent under the guidance of the Physical Education Department for credit toward graduation. Films and courses in first aid are included in this instruction.

Play days for the girls were scheduled by the G.A.A. Here Bethesda scores the winning point in a close volley ball game.

From the breezeway between the Ad and Science Buildings, the Girls' Gym seems a short distance away. It is not!

Clubs for All

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB—Whyte and Jacobsen look over Brusiloff's shoulder as he demonstrates the focus scale on his camera to Gatley, Olive, and Woltz. Other members looking on are—First Row: Noyes, McGuire, Robert, Perry, Summers, Schoen, Brenner. Second Row: Johnson, Russell, Spann, Getz, Crawford.

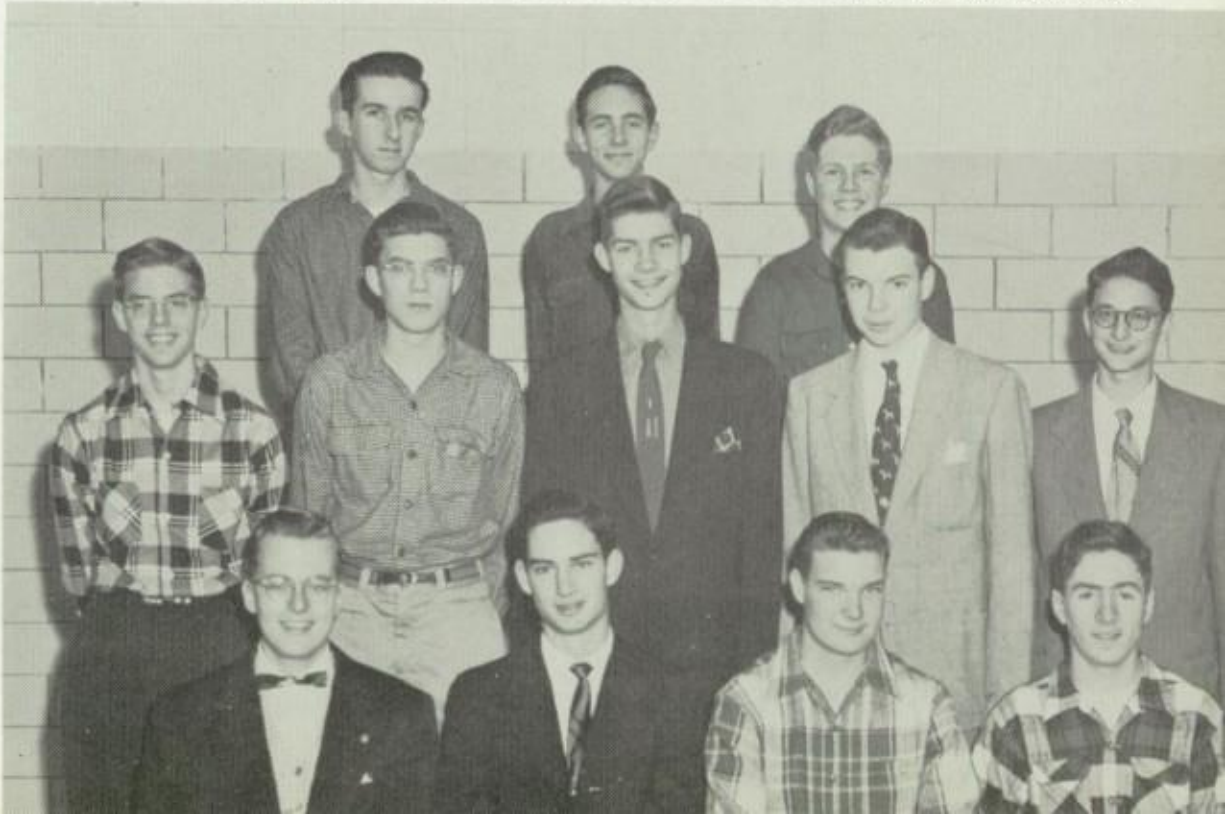

RIFLE CLUB—Kneeling: Miller, Babb, Smith, Spencer, Ehrhardt, Brakebill. Standing: Allen, Johnson, Crosset, Shinkman, Plugge, Wilcox, Peake, Burns, Rodenhiser, Kreutzberg, Denham, Mr. Sivertsen.

The Photography Club studies good photographic techniques and practices them by taking, developing, and printing pictures of school activities. The suggestions of the club to its amateur photographers result in prize-winning pictures for the members.

The Rifle Club is a varsity sport. Not only good marksmanship but also careful and proper handling of firearms is stressed. The club is a member of the National Rifle Association and competes with various schools in the area. The Montgomery Blair High School range is used for practicing.

The Electronics Club tries to promote the understanding of and interest in amateur radio and electronics. The club participates in the Science Fair and has its own registered short-wave station.

ELECTRONICS CLUB—Seated: Hyson, vice president; Spencer, president; Miller; Way, treasurer. Second Row: Libbey, Rippy, Klinck, Thompson, Brenner. Third Row: Lawrence, Morrison, Deyo.

Student Government in Action

Largest club in the school? That's the Student Government Association, for every student is automatically a member. Members send a delegate from each home room to Representative Assembly which meets every week. Each delegate is a member of one standing committee. Committee chairmen meet each day with elected officers to plan the activities of the association and to solve the many problems that arise.

Solving the problems also falls into the hands of the Student Court. Students breaking rules are summoned to court, where they receive kind but firm treatment.

STUDENT COURT—Seated: Burrill, Lund, Crafts, Mutchler, Carmichael, Heller, Herrell, Lank. Standing: Berlin, Heydenburg, Heers, Labovitz.

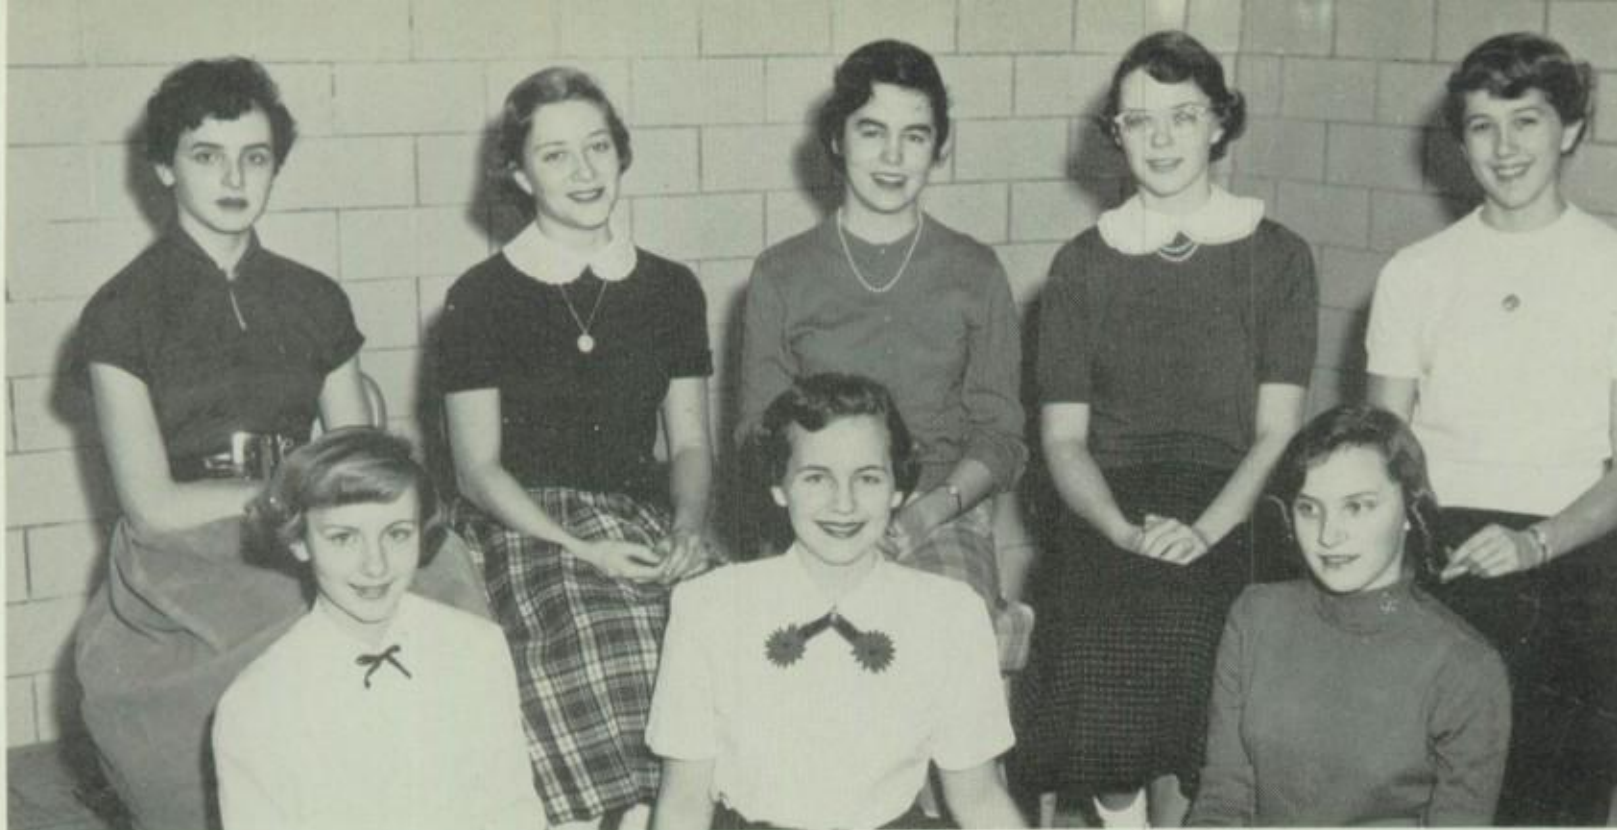

SOCIAL COMMITTEE—First Row: Dorn, Stephens, Carr. Second Row: Moorman; Downey, Curtiss, chairman; Picard; Turner. Third Row: McKnight, Torreson, Warren, Snyder, Williamson.

The work of the Social Committee is to make fun for the rest of us. As soon as one activity is over, another one appears on the calendar. Student enjoyment of the results, however, makes the work worthwhile.

Do you want grass in the quadrangle or handles on the drinking fountains? The Welfare Committee will take care of it. Students on this committee also conduct drives and plan ways to ease the crowded conditions in the cafeteria.

WELFARE COMMITTEE—First Row: Hull, Bigelow, Lee. Second Row: Auerbach; Jenkins, Chairman; Longfellow; Orndorff.

Organization Pays

Posters, posters, and more posters. The Publicity Committee advertises all Student Government activities in the school and around the community. Weekly columns are run in some of the local papers. A bulletin board and a showcase let students know what activities are coming up.

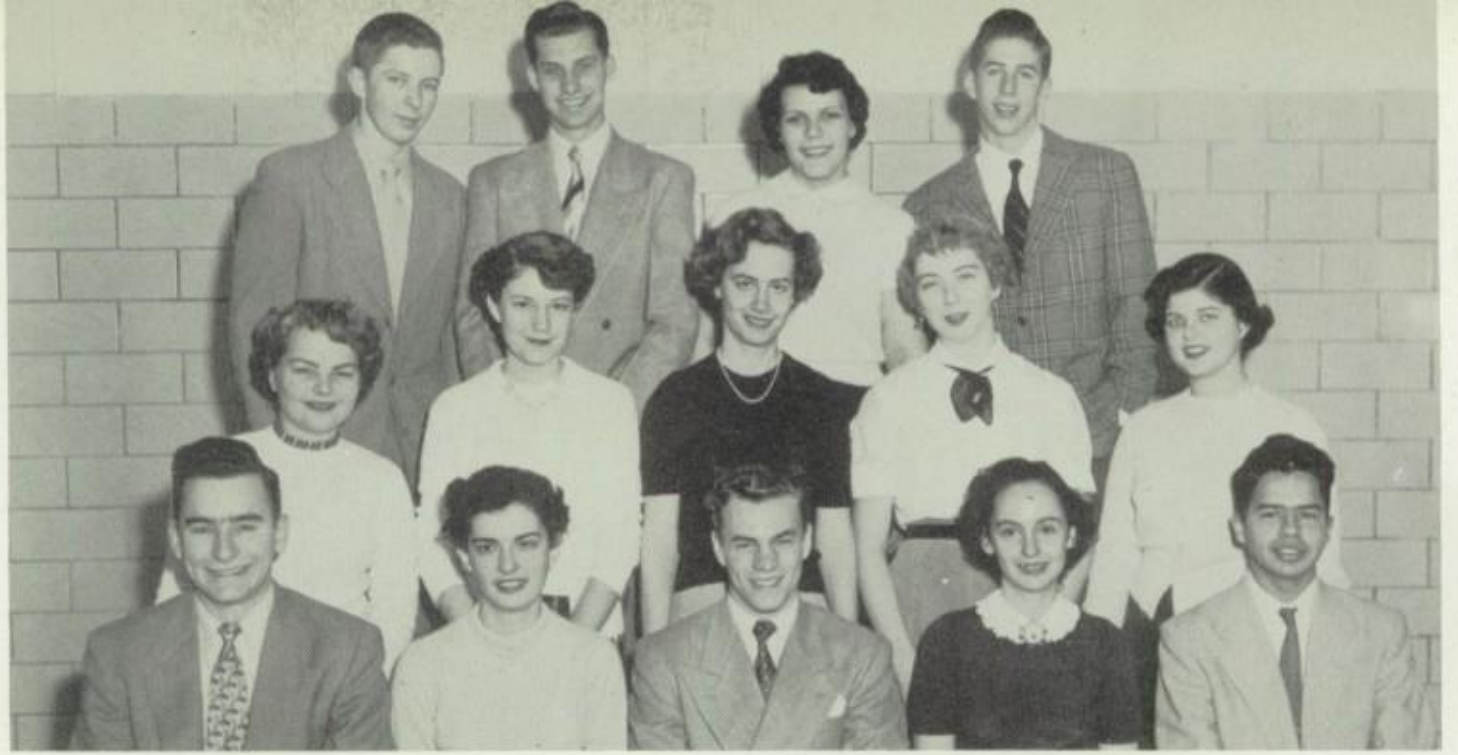

The Athletic Committee handles ticket sales for athletic events and arranges for busses to go to away games, as well as encouraging school spirit. Locks and Lockers, a sub-committee, issues locks and collects them again at the end of the year.

Glen Rowell, treasurer of Inter-High, and Tom Carmichael, president of the state student government, discuss plans.

ATHLETIC COMMITTEE—First Row: Girvin, Glaser, Wilbourn, Kissick, Mangham, Thomas. Second Row: Reeder; Shull; Garner; Goldman, chairman; Bowman; Grieves. Third Row: Cooke, Ritnour, Schmitter, Johnston, Lake, Saaks, Farrington, Clabaugh.

Clubs in VARIETY

The International Relations Club becomes better acquainted with the world scene not only by study and discussion, but by an annual trip to the U. N., international correspondence, and participation in the George Washington University Conference.

The aims of El Club Espanol are to encourage the use of Spanish for communication at all times, to become better acquainted with the Spanish speaking nations, and to create an interest with regard to our Pan American relations. To promote these aims, guest speakers, movies, and other activities are arranged.

The newly organized Science Fiction Club provides an opportunity for enthusiasts to discuss such questions as, "Do men really live on Mars?", to compare the work of authors, and to develop possible plots of their own.

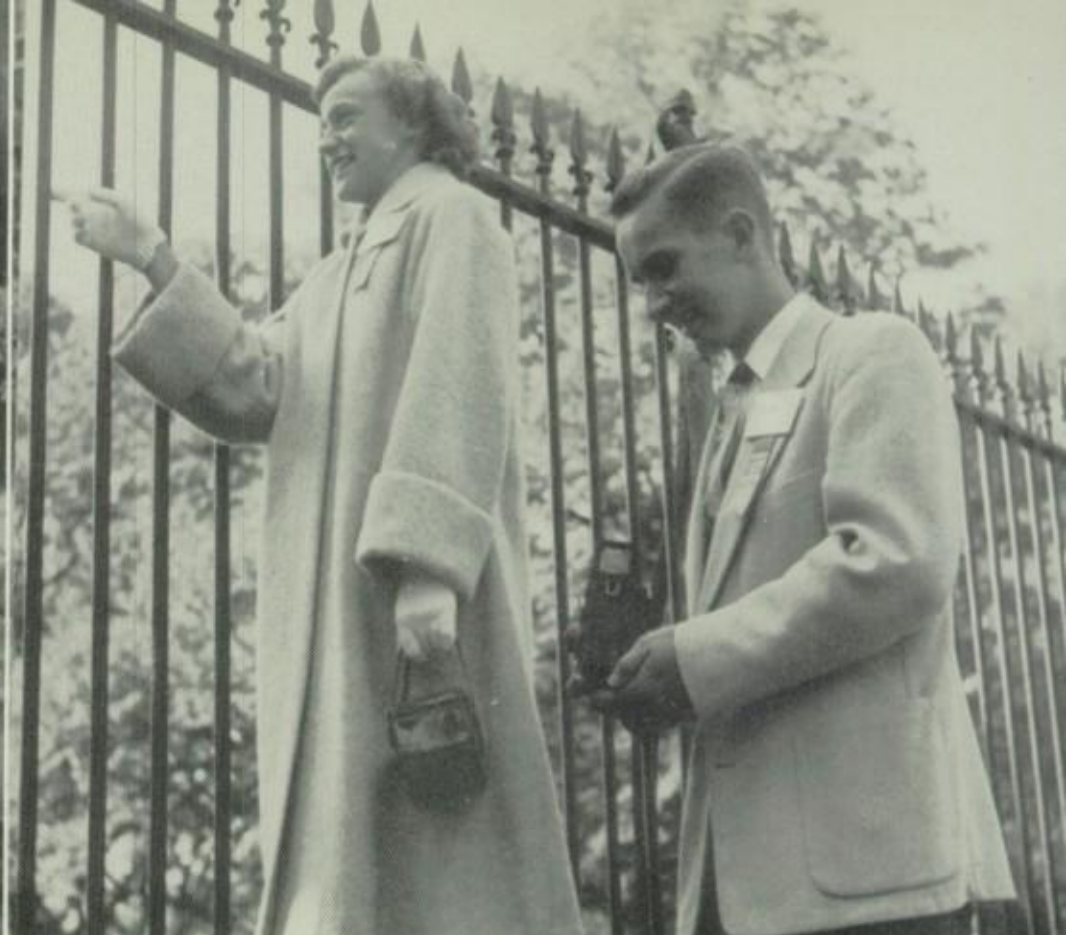

SCIENCE FICTION CLUB—Seated: Bernhardt, Schultz, vice president; Glemser, president; McGuire, secretary-treasurer. Standing: Davis, Martin, Myers.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB—Seated: Pattison; Baridon; Kovakas, president; Rogosa, secretary; Shinkman. Second Row: Beals, Voorhis, Melchoir, Palmquist, Robertson, S. Mouzy, Tesoro. Third Row: Cohen, B. Mouzy, Koenick, Roberts, Kenerick, Wensink.

The convention began Friday morning with a tour of the nation's capitol. The wait for the bus to which they were assigned was a short one.

Tom Carmichael, state president and student of B-CC, takes a picture through the White House fence, while state secretary Nancy Smith of Gaithersburg indicates an interesting sight.

STATE Student Government Convention

Representatives from every Student Government Association in the state of Maryland were invited to participate in the convention held at our school. Housing for the delegates was provided by our student body so that many more delegates could afford to attend the three-day convention.

A tour of Washington, a banquet, and a dance provided the lighter moments of the convention. The serious business was accomplished in small discussion groups and in two general sessions.

Next year's convention will be held at Bladensburg High School in our neighboring county.

Mr. Phillips and Tim Jecko refer to the book to emphasize the importance of the use of a recognized authority on parliamentary procedure.

Fred Crafts, Ronald Engle, Nora Aiken, and David Blackistone provide part of the program at the banquet.

In the shadow of the Capitol, delegates met an attache of one of the embassies and secured his autograph.

A great value of a discussion group is the sharing of experiences. While the other school's plan may not always be helpful, hearing about it makes us think.

An evening of dancing provided a pleasant way to meet the other delegates.

SERVICE Is its own Reward

The annual Honor Society-Faculty Basketball Game and other activities raise funds which provide a scholarship. In two induction ceremonies held each year, students are tapped for outstanding scholarship, leadership, service, and character.

The Creative Writing Club has been in existence only one year under its present name. The club members, believing that practice makes perfect, write everything from poems to short stories to be evaluated at the meetings.

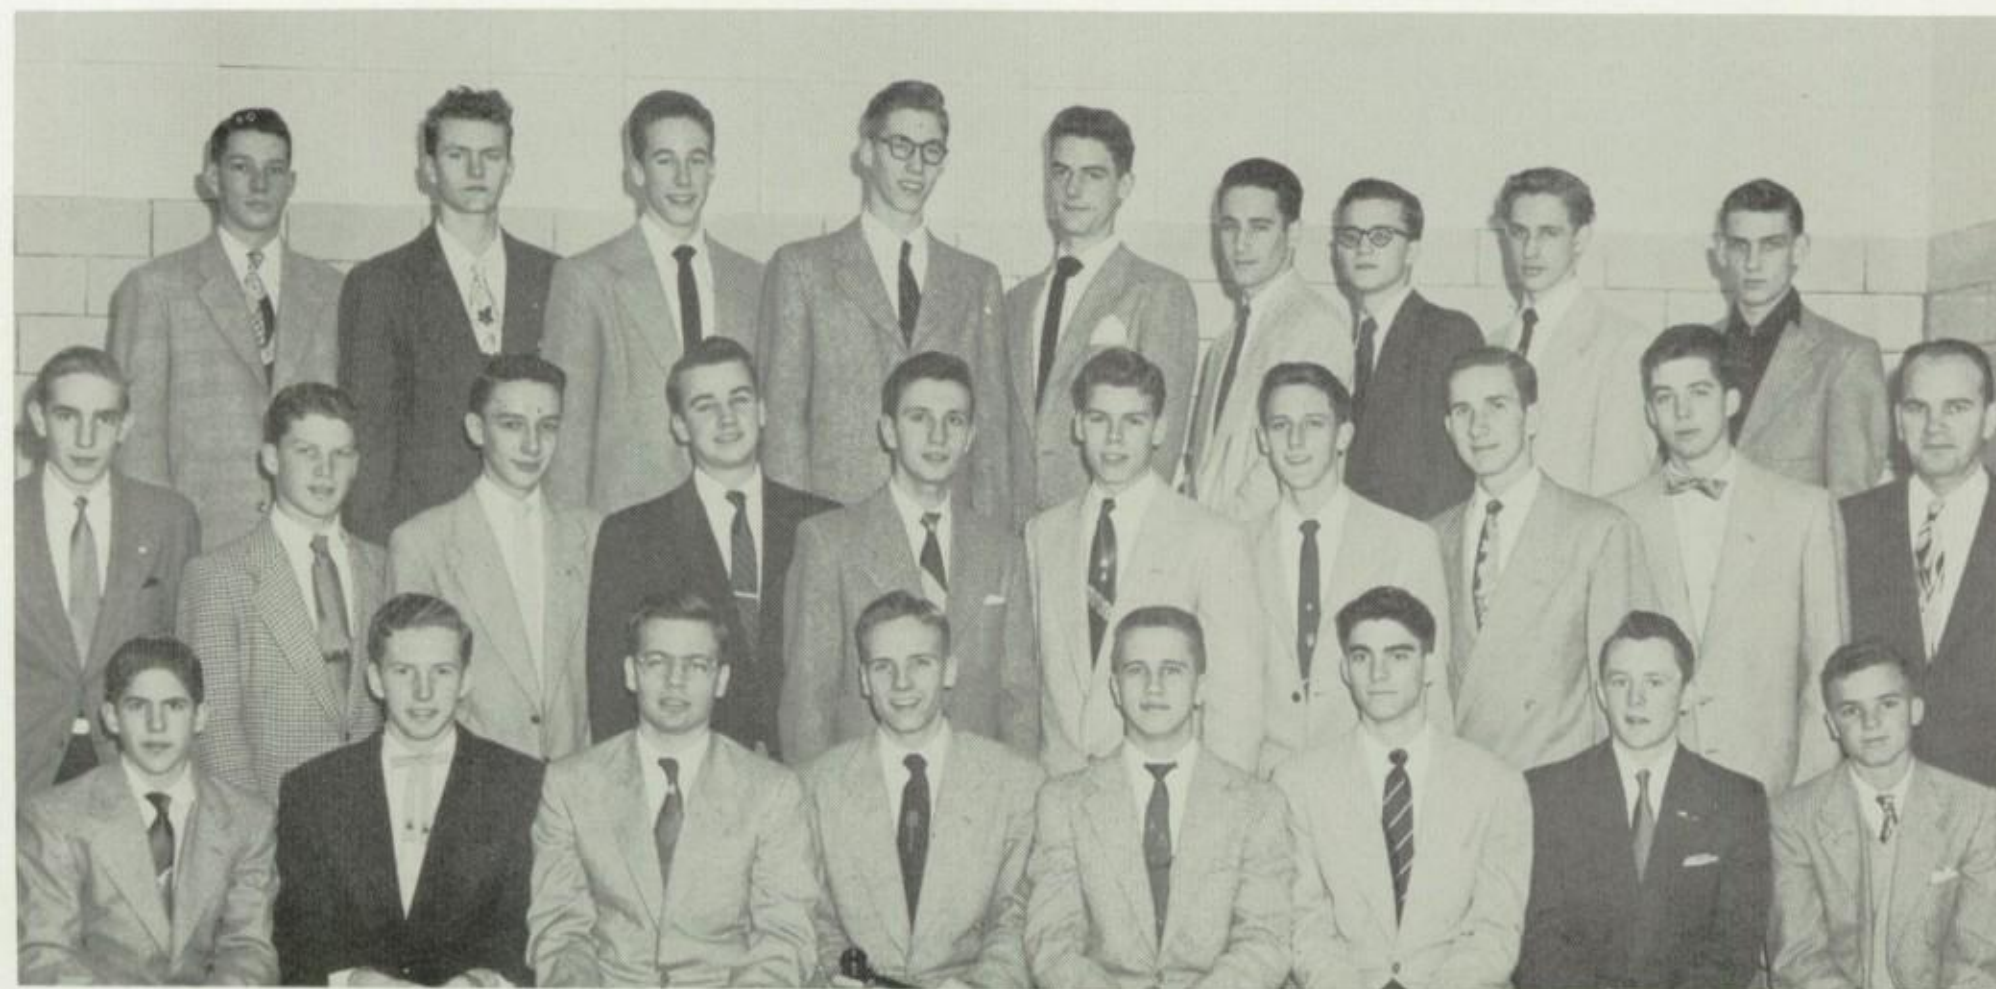

CREATIVE WRITING—Seated: Spann, vice president; Mr. Kudatsky, adviser; Zilber, president; Vollmer, secretary; Bernhardt. Standing: Mitchell, Gamble, Martin.

One of the hardest jobs in the school is that of the Assembly Committee, which meets daily. It must screen all programs so that we have a variety which will hold the interest of all students. The excellent results of their hard work prove that assemblies can be educational and entertaining at the same time. Seated on the bleachers or in the chairs on the floor, we viewed the programs with enthusiasm.

The Key Club, affiliated with the Kiwanis, aims to prepare its members for useful citizenship by developing in them the qualities of initiative and leadership. The club sponsors an annual dance, furnishes ushers for the choir's concerts, collects canned food for Christmas contributions to the needy, and directs traffic at the school during P.T.A. functions.

KEY CLUB—First Row: Miller; Engle; Garber; Blackistone, president; Bell; Rowell; Hailman; Hilles. Second Row: Reed, Cutler, Knight, Briggs, Goldman, Davidson, Duvall. Carmichael, Swenson, Mr. Donn. Third Row: Crafts, Beall, Jecko, Hought, Williams, Huffman, Johnston, Latimer, Benson.

Service

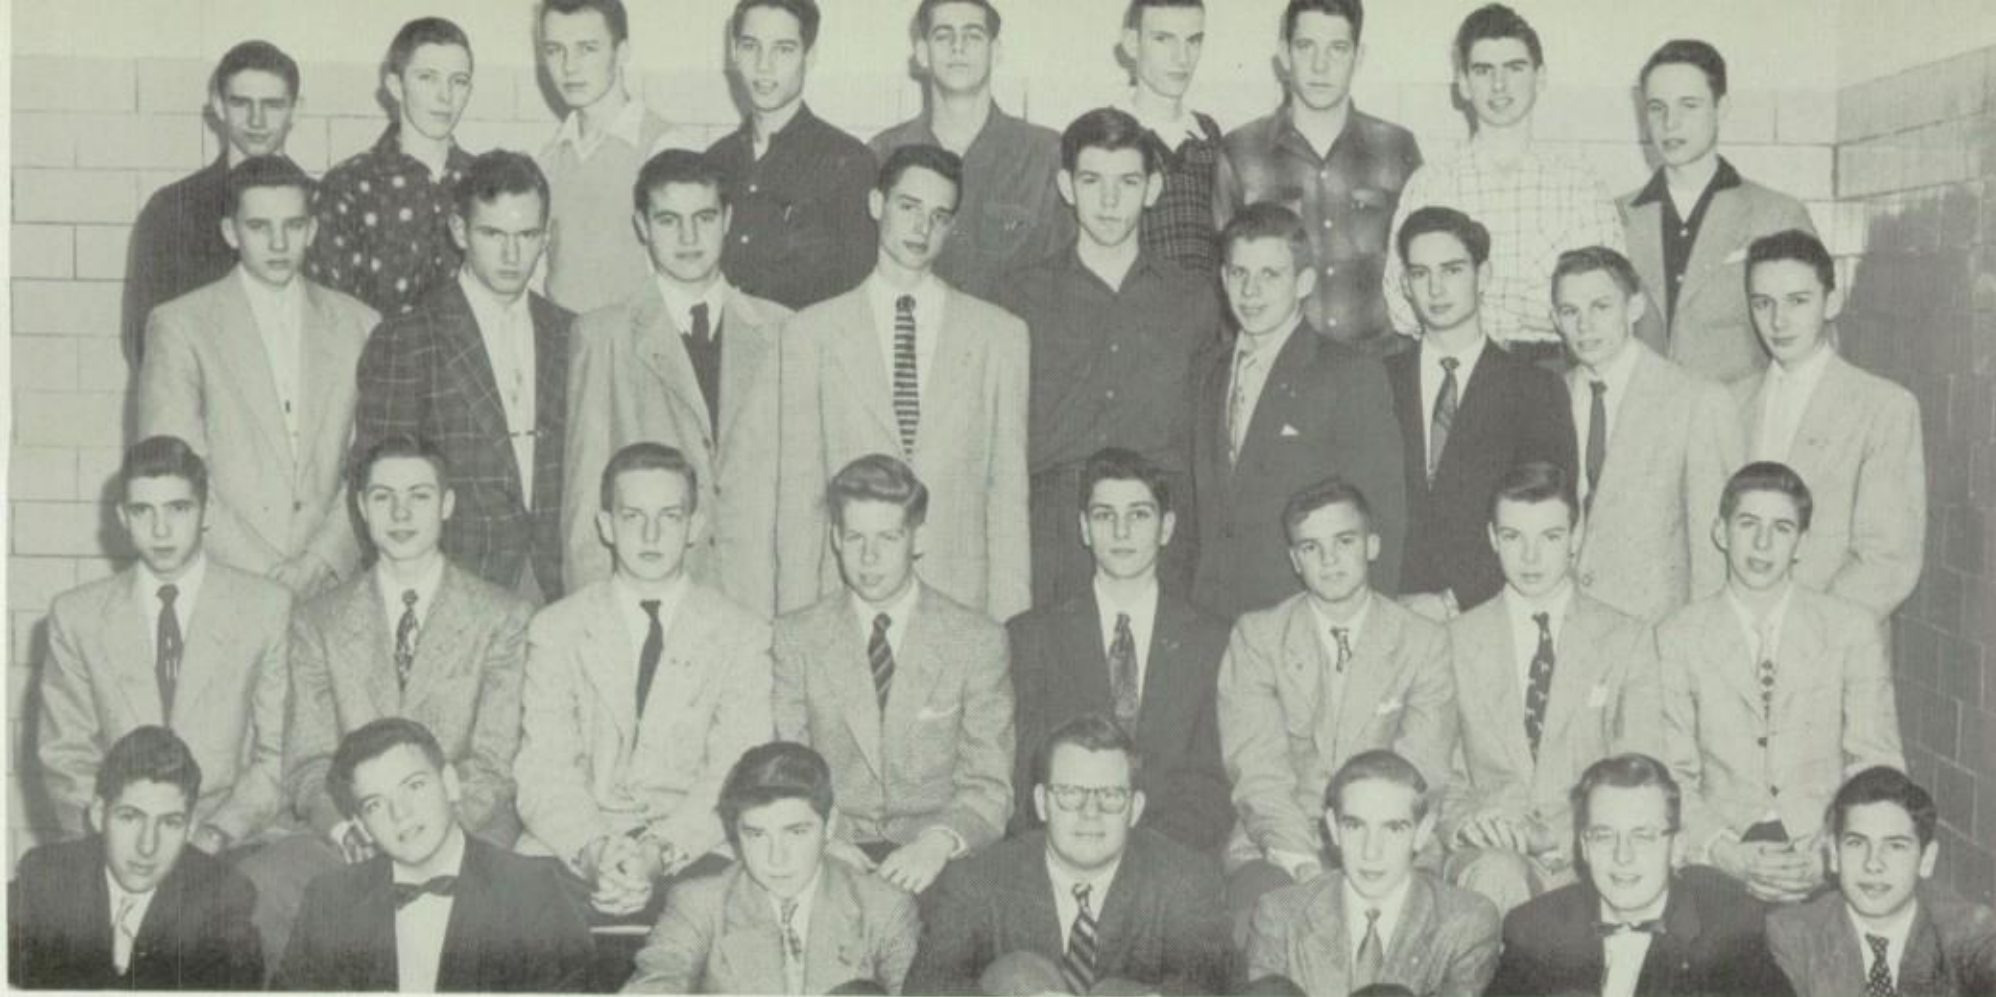

Each class has its own Tri-Hi-Y organization. The tenth and eleventh grade clubs are divided into seven chapters. The girls work hand in hand "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian living." This is done through projects to help the needy, discussions and other programs in the club meetings, and social events such as the Mistletoe Ball and Club Baron.

Clubs Meet Needs

Delegates to the Maryland Boys' Legislature at Annapolis are selected from members of the Hi-Y, which is the Y.M.C.A. organization for high school students. The boys have basketball tournaments and other sports activities and raise money for contributions to local charitable organizations as well as CARE. They cooperate with the chapters of Tri-Hi-Y in sponsoring the dances which finance the Blue and Gold Handbook. The publication is of assistance to new and "transfer" students in our school.

Marshall Gibson and Tom McMorrow practice stage gestures during a rehearsal. The Stage Crew makes final adjustments in the stage setting.

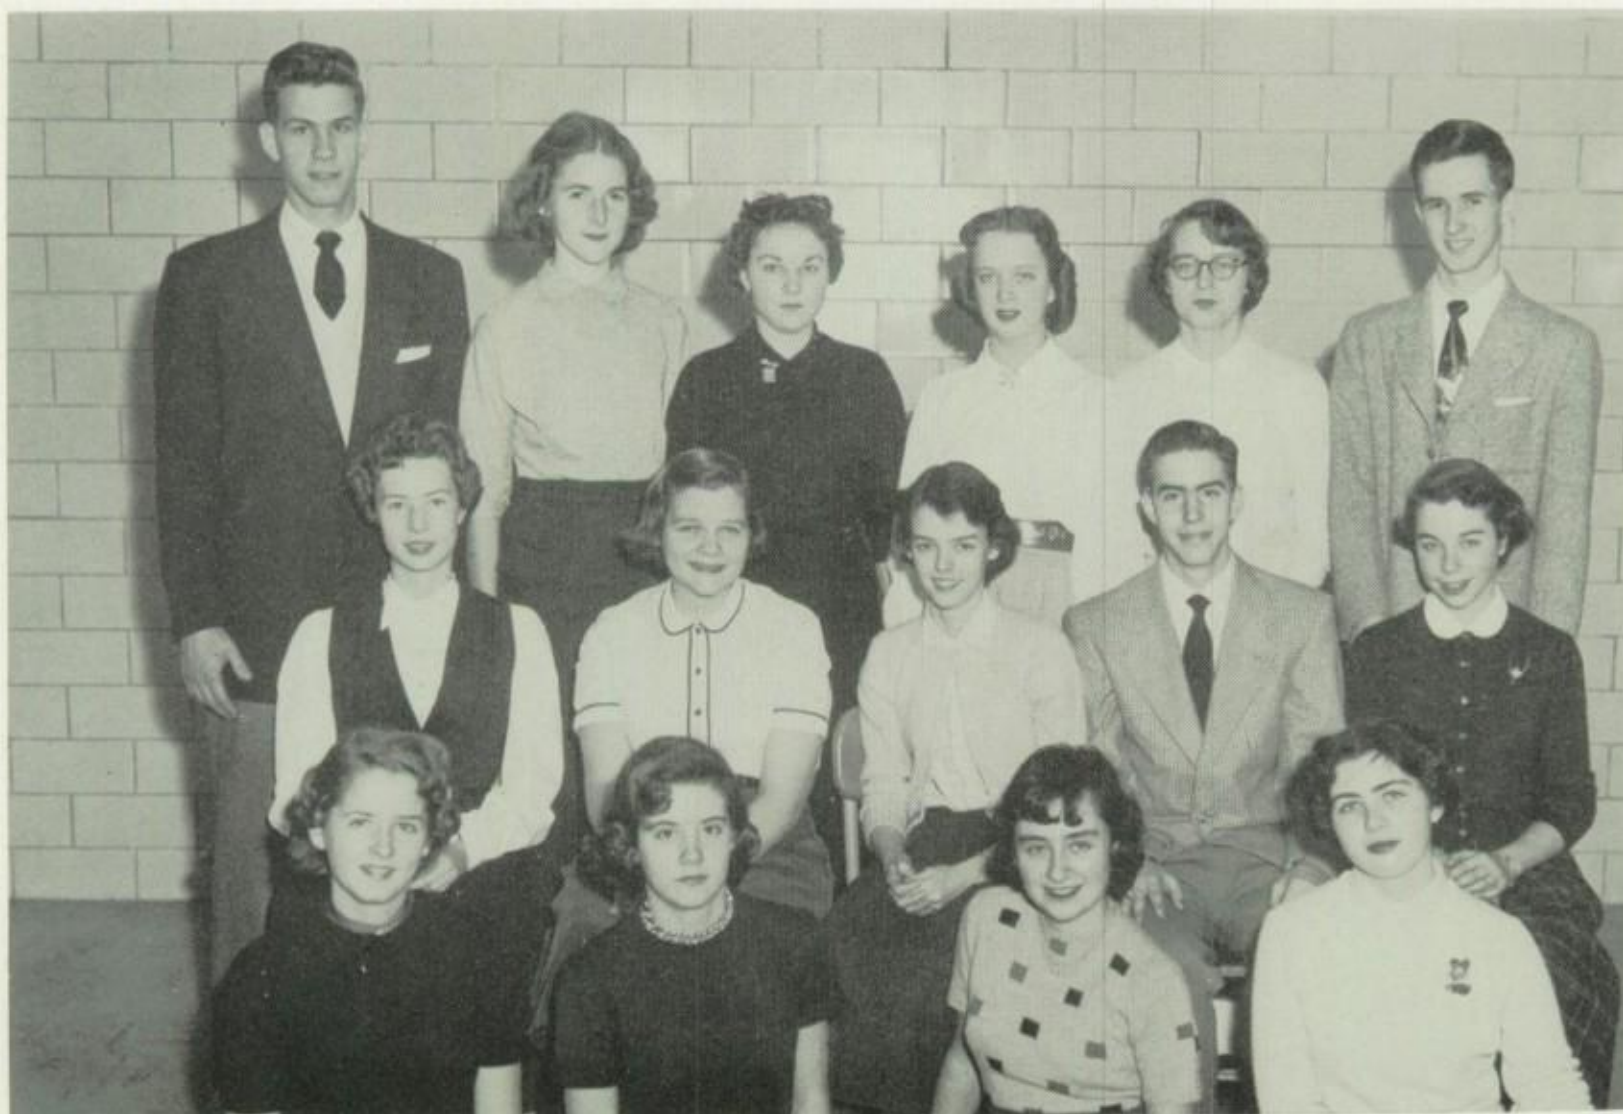

Interest in Dramatics has continued at such a peak that this year a class was established. The Dramatics Class and the club have presented two evening productions: "The Moonstone", a mystery, and "The Man Who Came to Dinner", a comedy. For an assembly they presented "She Stoops to Conquer". The Dramatics Class studies the history and types of drama. Make-up, stage production, publicity, and the many other aspects of production are studied. To demonstrate the variety of the program, the class did a pantomime of the parody of "Dragnet". Later they presented "Twelfth Night" at the National Thespian induction.

A member of the Photography Club took this experimental shot of the play The Man Who Came to Dinner.

THESPIAN SOCIETY—First Row: Bowie, Schoonover, Judd, Blumberg. Seated: Aiken, scribe; Williams, vice president; Butler, president; McMorrow, treasurer; Honsinger. Standing: Terres, Titus, Herlihy, Wolford, Ferris, King.

Barbara Trisko, lead in the "Moonstone," has just received a warning note and reads it to herself as Beverly Bland and Ethel Ferris watch anxiously.

All the WORLD'S a Stage

Organized two years ago, The National Thespian Society encourages all types of dramatic work. The major requirement for membership is an active participation in all phases of drama. It is an honor to be selected for induction.

Ann Swan considers the proposal of Stefan Dobert while David Graham watches. The scene is from the play "She Stoops to Conquer."

Tom King, the inspector in the "Moonstone," attempts to get information from the maid, Judy Bigelow.

Prize-winning

"See those bright blue uniforms? Well, that's our band wearing them." It's true that our new uniforms still cause comment, for this is only the second year that members have been so appropriately clad. Typical of the many performances of the band was their appearance in the parade honoring the King and Queen of Greece upon their arrival in Washington. The band appears at many assemblies and at most of our sports events. Its version of Bleacher Boogie is a stirring experience and a great help to the cheering. The band was invited to play for the Wake Forest-George Washington University Basketball Game. A check for one hundred dollars was its prize in the annual Lions' Club Band Concert held at the Washington, D. C., Armory for schools in the area.

The band is an asset to the community as well as the school. Each February it gives a concert.

Mr. Petranek leads the band at the contest sponsored by the Lions.

Christmas decorations throughout the school are the work of the Art department. The arrival of the three kings is depicted in this bulletin board arrangement.

Dancing and Fun

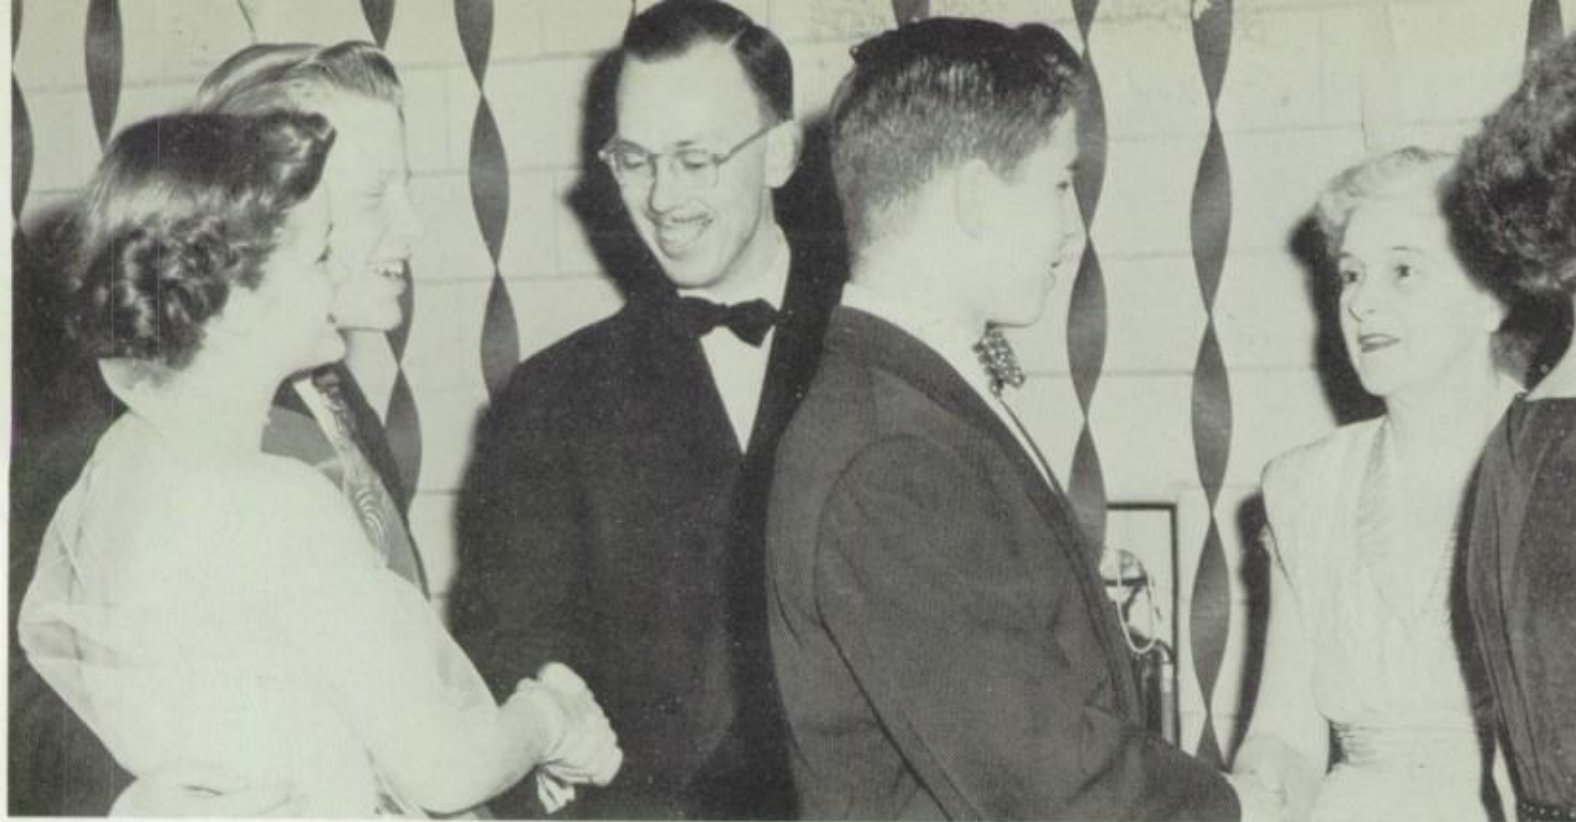

We love to dance! Probably the number of our dances would surprise an outsider; he'd also be surprised at our glitter. Heel and tie is usually the style, with an occasional semi-formal. Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y sponsor the Christmas dance and Club Baron. S.G.A. sponsors most of the others. This year we purchased a scaffold to make ceiling decorations easier to achieve. Our calendar is always full; but there's always a date available if there's a dance planned.

Check your hat and coat with the N.H.S. The Alumni Game and Dance always brings many welcomed friends back to us.

TRI-HI-Y; HI-Y COUNCIL—First Row: Stecher, Bailey, Frese, Wilbourn, Runkle. Second Row: Knight, Heers, Riley, Finstead, Gilbert, Talentino.

The receiving line is pleasant at any dance, but the gay atmosphere at the Blue and Gold made it especially so.

Chatter is especially enjoyable at the Mistletoe Ball. A whole week of holiday parties makes the vacation a memorable one.

While the orchestra took a break, we lingered to sing the Alma Mater.

Sitting one out are James Garrett, Dorothy Gates, Gayle Minton, and Donald Lash.

We re-entered the halls of B-CC as juniors, the only class with both a past and a future. We were still making new friends and attending club meetings, but we had attained our social star and were looking for another goal. The familiar phrase, "After high school, what?", set us thinking, and we picked the academic star.

In spite of our constant grumbling, we realized that the homework was helping us attain that sixty per cent A's and B's required for college entrance. Geometry problems solved, American battle strategy traced, and a car properly parked seemed insurmountable problems at first. Oh, there were a few dances in between, but the armloads of books and hours of study were more important. With a sigh of relief, we wrote our final exams and looked back on a successful year of preparation for the future. Now we felt better qualified to answer, "After high school, what?"

Until on Class Day. WE TOOK OVER.

Gary Lochte spends his mornings in the classroom and his afternoons working at Tony's Body and Paint Shop.

Nancy Kizer is an employee of Gateway Finance Corporation under the D.O. program. Credits toward graduation are earned this way.

EARNING while Learning

The purpose of Diversified Occupations is to correlate school and job training. In carrying out this objective, the teacher-coordinators attempt to develop students who are all-round contributing citizens, vocationally trained and competent; they work with employers in developing a good training program of advantage to both business and school, to achieve standards acceptable to the Bethesda-Chevy Chase community, and to meet the individual needs of each member of the program. During the morning at school, the students spend the first two hours in a core program of English and job problems. The school gears its core program of instruction to the job actually being performed. Many occupations are included in the program, but each student receives training in only one. The name Diversified Occupations applies to the program as a whole and not to the experience of the individual student.

A banquet is held each spring for the students, their employers, and the coordinators.

When this course was first offered at B-CC in 1942, students secured jobs in downtown Washington. Now, however, Bethesda businessmen employ the students. Then the course was called Distributive Education. The purpose of the course is the same today, only the name is changed.

Employers show their pleasure at the D.O. banquet.

Employers, employees, and coordinators at the annual banquet at Thompson's Restaurant.

The triumphant faces of the spectators indicate that Bethesda is winning another game.

Ranking TEAM Makes Headlines

The Washington Post, in the first basketball rating of the season, picked B-CC as the tenth team in the area.

Hagerstown's Hubs spoiled the basketball opener for the Barons, December 4, by winning a close one, 54-50. Bethesda led at the first quarter, 17-16, but fell behind at the half 27-28. Alan Sonner paced the team with 21 points.

Georgetown Prep's Hoyas came out on the short end of a 42-34 score to become Bethesda's first court victim. The Baron defense was working smoothly during the first half; they allowed the Hoyas only 14 points. On the other hand, the Bethesda offense netted only 23 points at the end of the second period.

John Cornelius scrambles for the ball in the game with Frederick.

Bethesda won its second game in a row when it defeated the Coolidge Colts, 54-43. The Barons had a 22-point fourth period rally to defeat their Metropolitan foes.

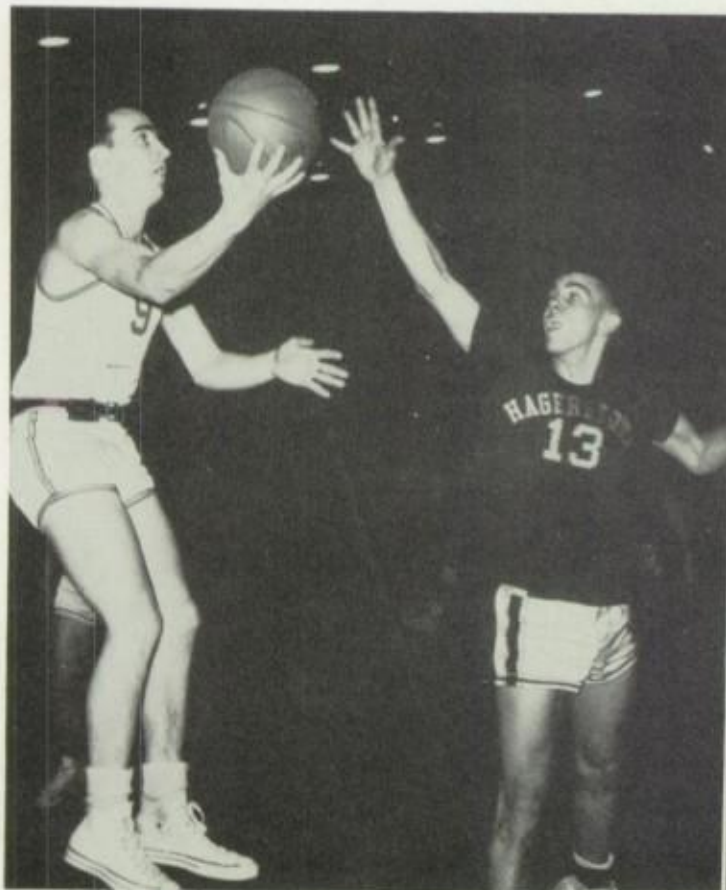

In the final game of 1953, the Barons rolled to an easy 49-28 victory over the Alumni.

The Barons evened up the score with the Hagerstown Hubs by trouncing them, 55-42. Bethesda jumped into an early lead; the Hubs had previously defeated the Barons by 4 points.

Trailing by three points in the last ten seconds of the game, the Barons put on a scoring drive to win over DeMatha by a score of 47-46. Mike Salter was high scorer with 15 points.

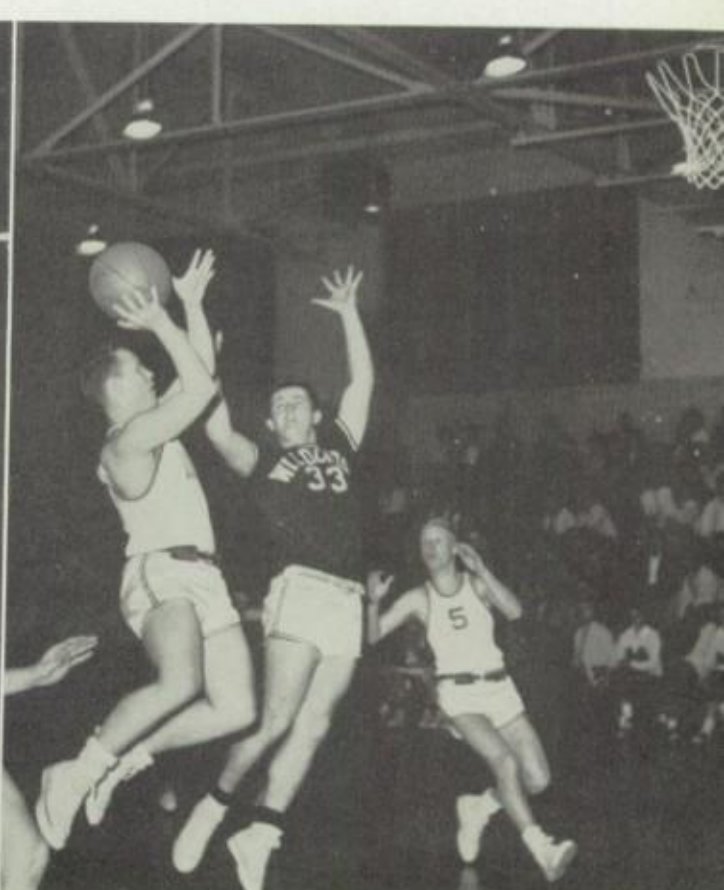

The Barons ended their five-game winning streak by losing to the area's ninth ranked team, McKinley Tech, 49-58.

Jerry Nettleton uses a tricky play to avoid the efficient guarding of a Hagerstown man.

A Northwestern Wildcat makes a valiant attempt to stop Roman's shot, as Melton watches anxiously.

Cornelius is caught between an ambitious Howard guard and Sonner's attempted pass.

Two men to one of ours! But we still beat Blair.

Salter takes a rebound in a tense moment.

A ball in the rafters held every player's attention.

In winning their sixth game this season, the Barons crushed Northwestern, 57-32. The Barons were never headed and led at the half-time, 26-10.

Paced by the sharpshooting of Alan Sonner, a high scoring Bethesda quintet came from behind a 21-17 score in the first quarter to trounce Howard High, 65-55.

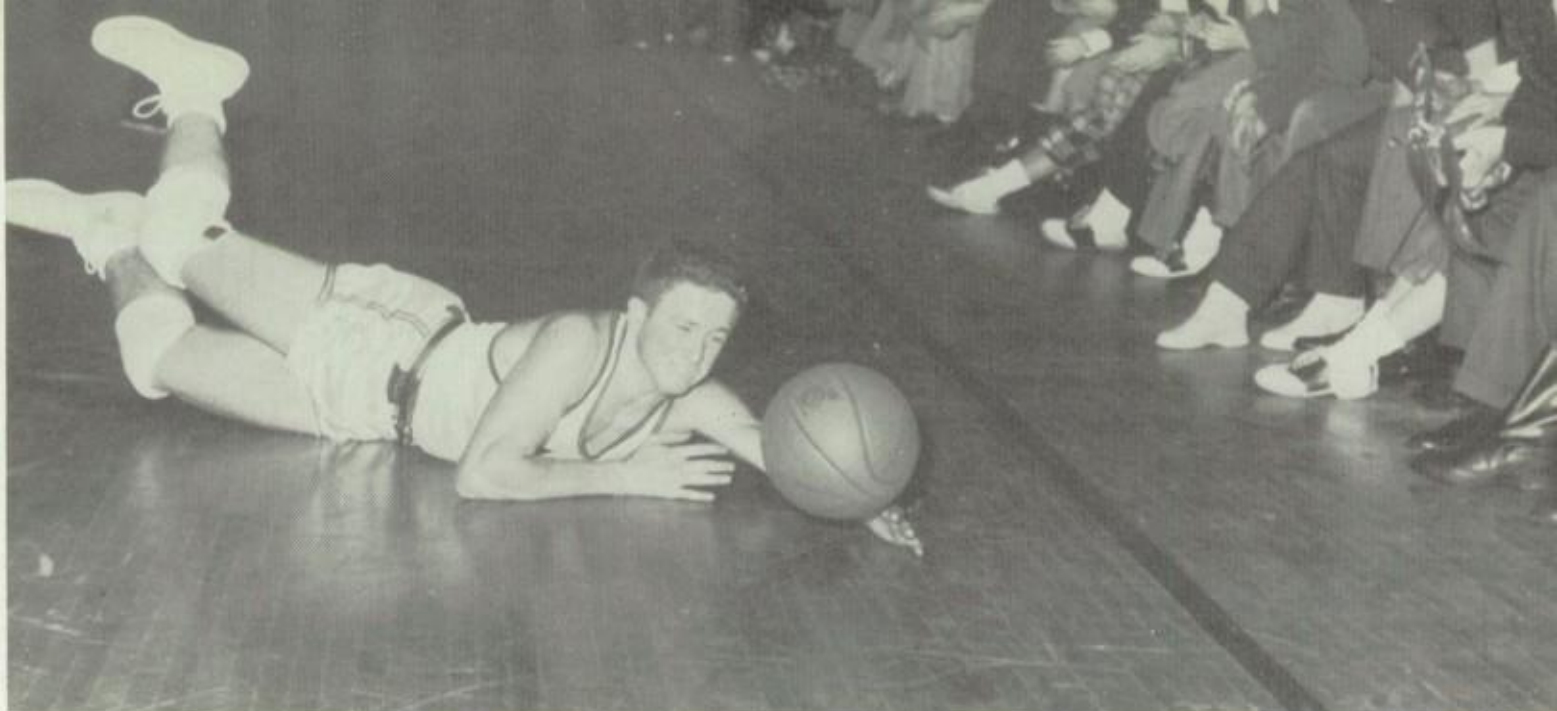

Interest in the contest with Blair was extremely high. The Double-B cage rivalry, begun in 1946, has seen the Blazers win 10 out of 16 contests. This year the game was staged on the home court with a capacity audience of 1400. For the first time since 1950, we won, 56-46. The game stayed close for the first three quarters, but in the last quarter, Bethesda broke ahead to win by 10 points.

Bladensburg became B-CC's third straight Bi-County victim as they came out on the short end of a 65-49 score. The Barons were never headed and at one time led by 25 points. Cornelius grabbed high scoring honors with 17 points.

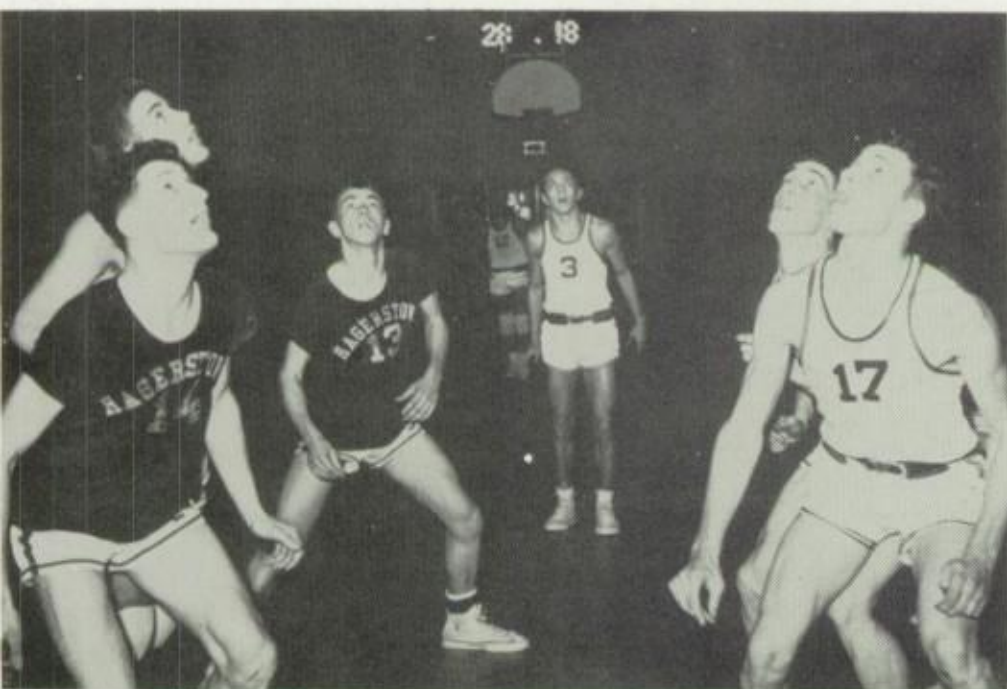

Bethesda, trailing by a slim margin at the end of the first quarter, defeated Suitland, 75-65.

Using their reserves for most of the game, the Barons romped to a 49-36 victory over Frederick. B-CC jumped to a quick lead and was ahead at the half, 29-7. The scoring was evenly divided, with the juniors doing most of it. David Melton was high with 8 points.

Bethesda came from behind in the last period to overcome St. Johns 57-50, for the first time in 13 years. B-CC's team rose to fourth in the Post's poll.

Sonner will long remember this moment in the Bladensburg game. Some of the close ones always get away.

Will it? Or won't it? The answer makes a difference in the final score.

BASKETBALL

The Barons rolled to their fifth straight Bi-County win at the expense of Northwestern, 52-43.

By defeating Suitland 67-50, the Barons won the Bi-County championship. Although Suitland scored first, Bethesda was never seriously threatened thereafter.

The reserves saw most of the action in the game with Western which we won 63-50. But in the clash with Blair, the Barons seemed unable to find the basket as Blair led at half-time, 25-22, but a hard fighting Bethesda team rallied in the last period to defeat their traditional rivals, 44-37.

Bethesda finished its first Bi-County cage season undefeated by defeating Bladensburg 63-52. Gaithersburg succumbed the same week, 56-38.

Our record of 19 wins and 2 losses is a record in itself, better than the one established in 1941. As a result of the sensational season, Barons go to the State Basketball Tourney at the University of Maryland.

Music. Music. Music

We're proud of the musical achievements of our school! We're proud that our own choir gives a concert in the Washington Cathedral at Christmas time. We're proud of them when they welcome visiting royalty. This year they sang the national anthem in Greek for the King and Queen of Greece. Choir members participate in the Student Government Carnival, perform in school as-semblies, and send Christmas boxes to their alumni who are in service. The a cappella choir promotes a deeper appreciation of good music among the students and the community and offers an opportunity for interested students to increase their musical knowledge.

Competing in the Musical Festival held at Catholic University is only one of the appearances of the Madrigal singers. Their primary purpose is to study the history, the de-

We're proud of our orchestra, too. Appearing frequently in assemblies, the orchestra's wide range of selections amazes us. At graduation we march to its music and view its performance with mixed emotions.

"I can't find that other picture." "Ten more words? But I don't know any more to say!" "The deadline is Monday."

Such are the problems of the budding journalists. But the headaches are worth it when the proud staff sees its handiwork in print.

Using many pictures and expressive write-ups, the yearbook aims to tell, for the students and for the community, the story of one year at B-CC. Each spring the staff participates in the Maryland State Press Convention.

To cover the news is the purpose of the Tattler, the school newspaper. If there isn't enough news, the staff, composed of members of the journalism class, say they are supposed to "invent" some. A trip to the Scholastic Press Association Convention at Columbia University in New York City is an eagerly anticipated treat for the journalists.

The reward for outstanding work on one of our worthwhile publications is membership in Quill and Scroll, the national honorary literary society.

Chips aims to include the best literary, musical, and artistic work of the students. Its staff and also that of the yearbook, is open to all students in the school. The final choices are left to the sponsor. The music department advises Chips in its phase of the contents.

The newspaper shares its advertising staff with the yearbook. Together the members obtain ads from local businessmen and handle the budgeting concerned in this phase of production.

Art editors must be recommended by the Art Department before they are appointed by the advisers of the publications. With their staffs they produce clever drawings and beautiful illustrations.

Clubs that Test our Talent

The aim of the Future Teachers of America Club is to learn about opportunities in teaching and to cultivate the qualities essential in a good instructor. This is done through a study of the great teachers and through field trips for observation of teaching methods in other schools.

The Art Club provides material for many of our bulletin boards, including the special Christmas ones, and presents a fair each spring. Members take trips to the galleries and do outdoor sketching as well as preparing the monthly calendar which hangs in the hallway between the Arts and Science Buildings.

SCIENCE CLUB—First Row: Herrell; Rippy; Hennessy, president; Whyte; Yagoda. Second Row: Matson, Bushong, Haught, Tubar, Russell. Third Row: Perry, Levin, McKnight, Smith, Milstead, Wergeland.

The Science Club, through discussions and other programs, broadens the members' knowledge of the latest scientific developments and encourages them to continue their study in this fascinating field.

To support their Belgian war orphan, the girls of Kassai hold an auction of lost and found articles and a delicious bake sale. Bowling parties and picnics serve as entertainment for the members.

"Who put this camera away? What did they do with the film?" These are the sounds that issue from the Audio-Visual Aids room. The club furnishes the school with movies, slides, and filmstrips. The efficient crew has a great responsibility in assigning, delivering, operating, and returning equipment.

These IMPROVE the Terrain

The Biology Club cooperates with the P.T.A. and the local garden clubs in planting and beautifying the school grounds. Shrubbery around the new Administration Building is largely due to their careful planning with the other clubs. Biggest job this year was their part in planting the seedlings around the athletic field, but the maintenance of the entire school grounds is no small task with their laying of sod, planting, and landscaping.

Precision marching is the pride of the Pom Pon girls. Snappy attire and crepe paper pom pons make their appearance on the field a gay affair. They cooperate with the band to make many a half-time show.

BASEBALL

Bethesda's team was well-rounded in every position. Highlights of the season were to the Barons' advantage. Great defense plays by short stop Tom Probey saved many a game. In the Gaithersburg game, pitcher Frank Funk hurled his first no hit, no run game, saved only in the seventh inning by third baseman John Gurke's running catch of a sinking line drive, which ended the game. In the Friends game, Frank Funk struck out sixteen batters. Pinch hitter Drew Stevenson hit a triple in the seventh inning, but this was not quite enough to win the game. Willis Byrd's seventh inning home run against Blair was enough to BEAT BLAIR. In the last game of the season, pitcher Frank Funk struck out his two hundredth man, to wind up two years of pitching for the Barons.

The final Baron record was six to five, with two games rained out.

TRACK

The Bethesda cindermen won their two dual meets over Falls Church and Landon, 65 to 26 and 73 to 12. They then placed fourth in the Maryland State Meet and fourth in Maryland Field Day. They finished the season by taking third place in a five school meet losing to Blair and Northwestern.

Among the outstanding performances were those of Carl Green, who was never defeated in the shotput event; David Allison and Dick Hill, who were the fastest dash men; and Jere Maglin, Boyce Williams, and Luther Stohlman, who were the best distance runners. The mile relay team, Maglin, Cassidy, Theon, and Hartz also held the distinction of being undefeated.

TENNIS

The Bethesda Netmen, in their second year as a varsity, won five and lost only one. At the beginning of the season, Bethesda suffered several costly injuries. In the first Blair match, top man Tom Beall sprained his wrist and was forced to forfeit. B-CC lost this match, 4-5. Later second man Ralph Darling injured his arm and discontinued practice.

The best tennis played by Bethesda was in the return match with Blair. Determined to avenge their former defeat, the Barons, with Tom Beall in the lineup, swamped their rivals.

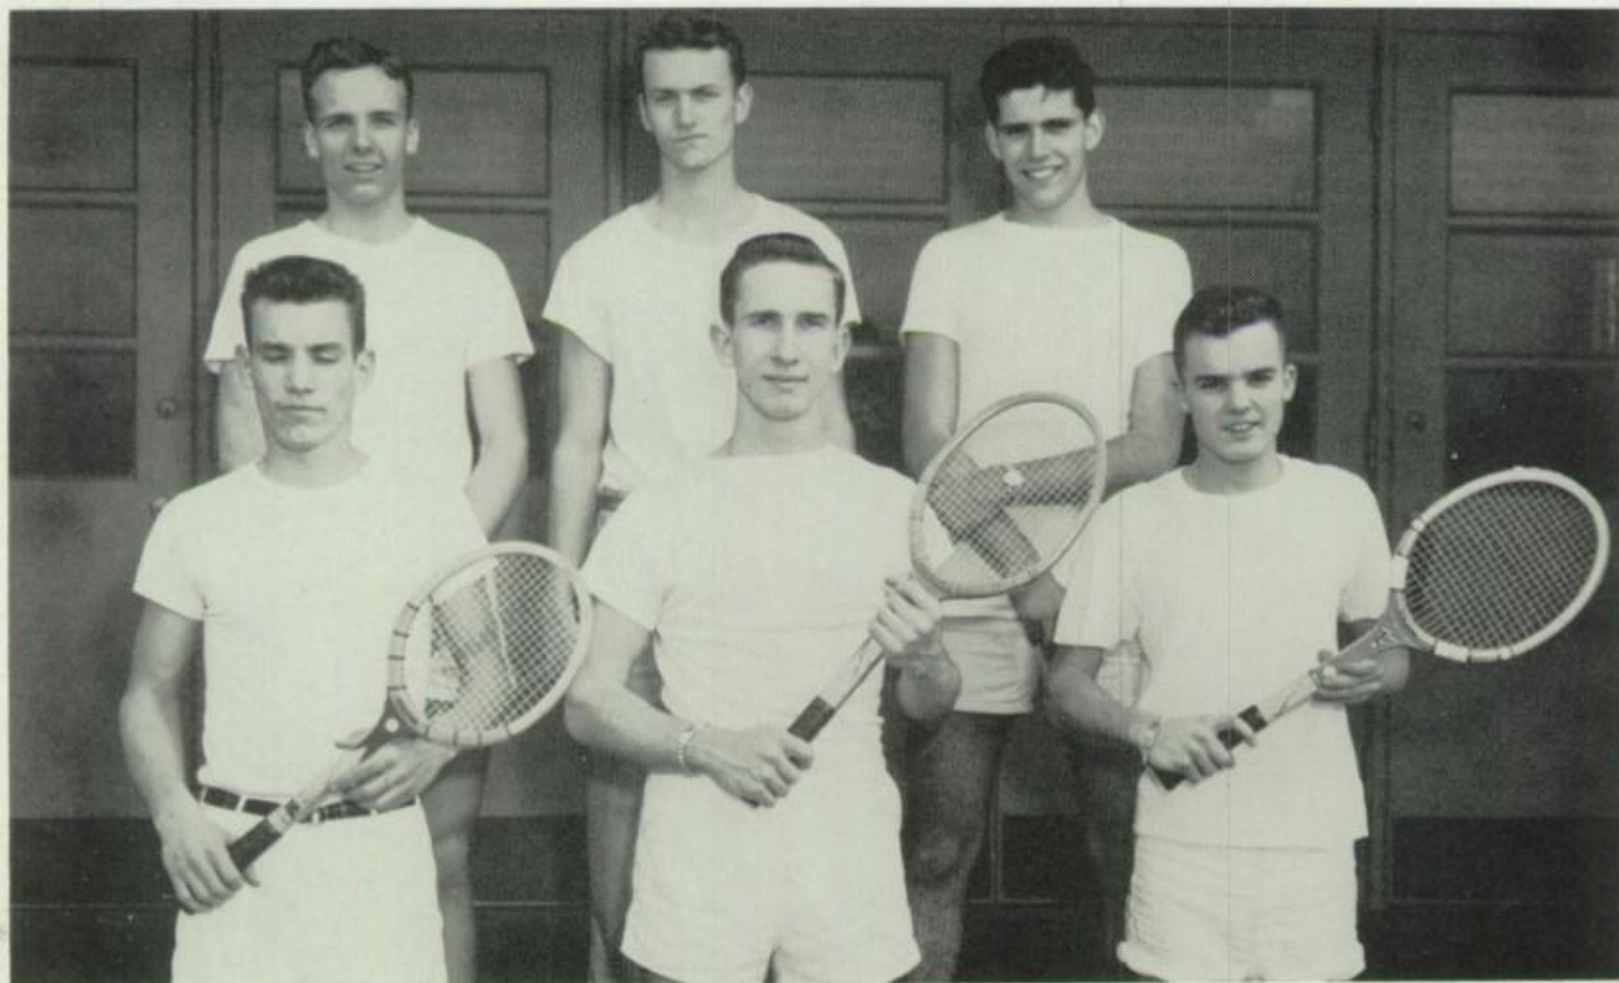

The greatest upset of the season occurred in the match with Wilson. Wilson won the interhigh championship again this year and is noted for its fine tennis team. They went into the match heavy favorites but lost, 5-4. In winning this match, Bethesda established itself as one of the finest teams in the Washington area.

JAMES MADISON VAUGHAN
1935—1954

Camp Echo Lake, a camp for underprivileged children, received contributions, in memory of Jim Vaughan.

Jim, always interested in sports, played first string basketball on the champion J.V. team in his junior year. In the spring his skill earned him a place on the baseball team, but he never played in any of the scheduled games because of the undiagnosed illness that caused his death nine months later.

Dark-haired, smiling, Jimmy was everyone's friend.

Site of Camp Echo Lake shows possibilities for future Montgomery County Campers.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—Seated: Hoover, treasurer; Duvall, vice president; Hailman, president; Manly, recording secretary; Ash, corresponding secretary; Barnes, member-at-large. Standing: Auslund, historian; Archambault, chaplain; Crafts, parliamentarian; Rogers, member-at-large.

Seniors . . . the GOAL'S Accomplished!

This was our big year; we were seniors. Although our first thoughts were of being on top, we soon realized that glory was not all there was to being a senior. We were also expected to set an example.

For two years we had been learning new facts, pursuing individual interests, and building character. All this now culminated in the highest goal of all, our star of leadership.

Graduation was eagerly anticipated. That event signified all that we had accomplished during three wonderful years.

Blue and Gold

We'll stand together though oceans may part us.
 We will treasure, though years may be long,
 Our high school, our own Alma Mater,
 And the echo of this, our song.
 To the Blue and Gold we will raise our song,
 To the Blue of loyalty,
 To the Gold that stands for the glory gained
 And the honor still to be
 To the work and fun and the friendships won
 Evermore we'll give a cheer—
 And we'll raise our flag of the Blue and Gold
 Ever higher year by year.

The 1954 Pine Tree has gone to press! The story is told; nothing can be changed or added now. The staff hopes that the work and time it has put into the book have created a Pine Tree which will recall the happiest memories of each student. We wish to express our appreciation to:

Mr. Sidney Schultz of H. G. Roebuck and Son for his suggestions and advice about the printing of the 1954 Pine Tree,

Mr. Frank MacIntyre of Merin Studios for the excellent photographs of our school and students,

Joseph Brusiloff, Thomas Whyte, and David Schoen for photographs of school activities,

Miss Margaret Cooke for her help in distributing pictures,

Mrs. Elizabeth Layton for her many hours of work and guidance on the numerous problems of yearbook production, and

All the students of B-CC who have helped to make this yearbook possible.
